ENTIRE DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET EXCEPT HILL WINS

GENERAL PERSHING'S ARMY MENACES HUNS' BIG RETREAT

FOE RETREATS ON 75 MILE FRONT

ALLIED ARMIES LOSE CONTACT WITH ENEMY ARMIES IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM—BAD WEATHER INTERFERES.

London, Nov. 5.—7 p. m.—The Germans are retreating on a 75-mile front from the River Scheldt to the River Aisne.

In the face of the German retreat the situation changes so rapidly hour by hour that it is impossible to give a definite idea of the allied advance.

Roughly, the allies have crossed the Franco-Belgian frontier between Valenciennes and Bavay, which is eight miles west of the fortress of Maubeuge. Then the line runs from Marilles to the western edge of Nouvron forest, two miles east of Guise, two miles south of Marle and along the Serre river to Clermont river and then in a straight line to Chateau Porcien.

Owing to the bad weather the allied pursuit has lost touch with the enemy's main body.

French troops have crossed the Ardennes canal on both sides of Le Chesne and have advanced for a distance of about a mile.

The Americans have forced the bridgehead south of Dun, on the river Meuse, but have not yet occupied Dun.

U. S. NOTE TO GERMANY SAYS

FOCH HOLDS ARMISTICE TERMS

Washington, Nov. 6.—Marshal Foch has been authorized by the United States and the allies to receive representatives of the German government and to communicate to them the terms of an armistice.

The German government is so informed in a note handed to the Swiss minister here today by Secretary Lansing.

The note announces that the allied governments have declared their willingness to make peace with the German government on the terms laid down in President Wilson's address to congress last January and on the principles of settlement enunciated in his subsequent addresses.

The allies reserve to themselves, however, complete freedom of action when they enter the peace conference on the subject of the freedom of the seas.

It was further stated with reference to restoration of invaded territories that the allied governments understood that compensation will be made by Germany for all damage to the civilian population of the allies and their property as the result of the aggression of Germany "by land, by sea and from the air."

YANKEES DEVELOP NEW LINE

ON HEIGHTS EAST OF MEUSE

Washington, Nov. 5.—Troops of the American First army which today forced a crossing to the east bank of the Meuse at Brielle and Clery-le-Petit are developing a new line on the heights between those places, General Pershing reports in his communique for this morning.

The west bank of the river as far north as Foully is now in American hands.

YANKEES BRAVE MACHINE GUNS.

With the American Army in the Meuse Sector, Nov. 5.—The American forces have captured Liny-Devant-Dun and Milly-Devant-Dun, east of the Meuse river. They are also occupying the hills on the east bank of the river, despite a stiff machine-gun resistance by the Germans.

BRITISH WHIP 25 DIVISIONS.

London, Nov. 5.—The British armies in the sector between the Sambre and the Scheldt have defeated in the battle which began Monday 25 German divisions, Field Marshal Haig reports from headquarters tonight.

In addition to capturing many more villages today, the British have passed through the great Mormal forest.

PROBABLY RE-ELECTED GOVERNOR

GOVERNOR JAMES M. COX.

MILLER AND HILL LOSE OUT, BUT REST OF DEMOCRATIC TICKET WINS

Congressman Ashbrook Again Is Sent To Washington From 17th District—City Returns Small Majority Against Prohibition—Two Offices Uncontested.

With returns in from every city precinct and 23 precincts in the county reported, totals show the election of the entire Democratic county ticket by safe margins, with the single exception of James J. Hill of Johnstown, as state representative. The returns indicate that Hill was beaten by John S. Graham, the Republican candidate.

For state senator, the 15th 16th senatorial district elected Miller—though in this case it was the Republican, William M. Miller of Muskegon county, who defeated J. Henry Miller of Newell, congressman from the 17th district, as indicated on early returns.

William A. Ashbrook was again elected though William M. Morgan of Newark, cut into his former comfortable majority to a considerable extent. It was estimated on returns up to 3 a. m. that his majority in the district would be about 1500.

There were no close contests in the county race, though chief interest centered in the results of the contest for sheriff, recorder, county commissioners and clerk of courts. In each of these contests the Democratic candidates took the lead early in the evening and maintained it until the election of the day was not in doubt—that for prosecuting attorney Democratic candidates seemed assured.

In two of the offices to be filled there were no contests in the county race, though chief interest centered in the results of the contest for sheriff, recorder, county commissioners and clerk of courts. In each of these contests the Democratic candidates took the lead early in the evening and maintained it until the election of the day was not in doubt—that for prosecuting attorney Democratic candidates seemed assured.

William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, has been re-elected Seventeenth district congressman by an estimated majority of about 1500 over his Republican opponent, William M. Morgan of Newark. Mr. Ashbrook apparently carries Licking county by 600, Ashland by 500, Coshocton by 500, and Richland by 500. Morgan apparently carries Delaware county by 350 and Knox county by 300. Returns from the district are incomplete at 5 a. m., but Mr. Ashbrook's re-election seems assured by a majority of approximately 1500.

HUN MUST PAY FOR DAMAGE ON LAND AND SEA

Armistice Terms Will Draw Claws From Great Military Machine.

ARMIES BEING BEATEN ALONG WHOLE OF FRONT

American Stroke Along the Meuse Promises To Develop Important Gains.

(Compiled from A. P. Dispatches.)

The terms on which Germany may have peace have been delivered.

The element of softness is absent from them. Like the peace given Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria, the price Germany will have to pay is virtually the price of absolute surrender.

The claws of the great military machine of Germany are to be drawn; invaded territories must be evacuated and compensation must be made for all damage done to the civilian population in attacks by land and sea and from the air. Impotency by Germany again to take the field is to be insisted on.

Meanwhile the German armies in Belgium and France are being defeated. Nowhere are they able to stay the attacks of the allied forces. The ground is being given over wide areas in Belgium and in France from the Belgian border to east of the Meuse river.

From Valenciennes to the Aisne the British and French are driving the enemy in what seems utter disorder backward toward his border. Greater, perhaps, than all the other strokes, however, is that of the Americans and French in the Meuse river, north and northwest of Verdun, where fast strides are being made northward over a wide front which threatens to cut off the enemy's retreat and bring about defeat of the Germans on the battlefield.

From Belgium to the Meuse the Germans are in jeopardy. Especially critical is the situation for them in the great sack from Belgium to the north of Rheims, for with the advance of the Americans and French northward and with the important lines of communication under fire it seems probable that large numbers of them are destined to be cut off and forced to surrender.

Judging the situation from the military map the crisis on the battlefield is at hand. The Germans have come to the realization that the Foch military machine is the master of the German machine. Therefore, they are giving ground everywhere before it—seeking their border line in order to prevent being crushed.

DELAWARE GIVES WM. M. MORGAN SMALL MARGIN

Delaware, O., Nov. 5.—All but six precincts in this county give Ashbrook 2309, Morgan 2702. Ashbrook lost Delaware two years ago by 200. Morgan will carry Delaware this year by about 400.

NATION STANDS BY PRESIDENT

Washington, Nov. 5.—Increased Democratic majorities in both the senate and house were claimed late tonight by Mr. S. Cummings, acting chairman of the Democratic national committee. "The returns thus far received," says Mr. Cummings, "indicated that the country has given the president a splendid endorsement. The senate and the house are both Democratic by increased majorities. Smith has been elected governor of New York by a very large plurality—probably about 75,000."

REPS SAY IT'S "SAFE." Washington, Nov. 5.—Safe Republican majorities in both the senate and house were claimed by the National Republican congressional committee in a statement issued here at 1 o'clock this morning.

OHIO MAY RETAIN HER WAR GOVERNOR

Columbus, Nov. 6. (5 a. m.)—Returns for governor from 4222 out of 5756 precincts give Cox 357,569, Willis 326,720. Cox lead, 30,849. For prohibition, 252,263 against, 283,953; wet lead, 31,690.

The control of congress at 5 a. m. is swerving between Democrats and Republicans. The result will be close.

Columbus, Nov. 6.—With more than three-fifths of the total precincts in the state heard from and every county represented, with the exception of one, James M. Cox, Democrat, is leading Frank B. Willis, Republican, for governor, and the manner in which he is maintaining his early lead indicates that he will probably be elected.

Three thousand five hundred and fifty-two out of 5756 precincts in the state give Cox, 283,430; Willis, 271,635.

According to reliable information this morning the Ohio delegation in congress will be Republican, 12 Republicans and eight Democrats apparently having been elected with two contests still in doubt, in both of which the Democratic nominee is leading.

At 1:30 this morning, with 2890 precincts out of 5756 having been heard from, the wets are leading by more than 13,000 majority in the prohibition fight. The vote is for prohibition, 206,622; against prohibition, 220,352.

Anti-prohibition managers claim that the dry majorities returned in rural districts early in the evening are being cut down as fuller returns are being received and predict that the state will remain wet by between 30,000 and 40,000 majority. Dry leaders, however, appear equally as confident and claim that the rural majorities will more than overcome the heavy wet vote in the larger cities. The result is thus placed in doubt.

Dry leaders here claim that the legislature is safely dry in case the federal prohibition amendment is brought up at the next session, but on the heels of this claim comes an alarming vote at the polls today permitting the people of Ohio a referendum on any federal amendment ratified by the Ohio legislature.

KANSAS VOTERS ELECT REPUBLICAN SENATOR

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 5.—Early election reports made available throughout the state by the operations of the double board system indicate victory for Governor Arthur Capper, Republican candidate for the United States senate, over William H. Thompson, and for Henry Allen, Republican, for governor, over W. C. Lansdon, Democrat.

LEWIS WINS IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Early returns in today's election, according to the City News Bureau, indicate that Senator James Hamilton Lewis has carried Chicago over Congressman Medill McCormick by 80,000.

WILLIS THINKS TICKET IS ELECTED

Delaware, O., Nov. 5.—"I have no doubt but that the entire Republican ticket has been elected," declared former Governor Frank B. Willis, Republican candidate for governor of Ohio, at his home here at 11:30 o'clock tonight. "We have been receiving full reports and they all show a gain of 10 to 11 votes to a precinct in every part of the state."

DECLARES OHIO IS SAFELY DRY

Columbus, Nov. 6.—At 12:30 o'clock this morning, James A. White, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, authorized the statement that on the basis of returns received at that hour from over the state, "Ohio is safely dry."

FULLINGTON CLAIMS CHANCE FOR WILLIS

Columbus, Nov. 5.—At 11:30 tonight, Republican State Chairman Fullington made the following statement: "Granting the claims of the Democrats that Cox will carry Hamilton county by 13,500 and Cuyahoga county by 15,000, Willis will be elected governor by a safe majority."

CHRISTMAS TRADE.

The government not merely asks the people to limit their Christmas purchases to strictly useful goods, but to make their purchases very early this year. It considers the ordinary rush of the holiday season to be a harmful activity in time of war. It wants to keep the work of conducting stores and operating express companies and the post office, down to a normal basis during that period.

If people continue to do their Christmas buying at the usual time, it will not be possible to deliver presents through the postoffice and express companies until long after the holiday. There is not help enough to be had to do the usual Christmas work unless it is strung out over a long period.

There is just one way to start this trade and get it going now. And that is for stores to feature useful Christmas gifts in their advertising.

An indolent editor, who hated work, once told his reporters not to put in anything about politics. He thought that political excitement was largely stirred up by the newspapers. If they refrained from putting political news in the paper, he thought there would not be much political interest, and they would have less work to do. While that was very poor journalism and poor patriotism, too, the man's judgment was largely right as to where political interests comes from.

So it will be in Christmas trade. If the people are left to themselves on this matter, they will begin buying about the usual time, and there will be the usual rush and scramble. If the merchant will advertise their Christmas offerings now, as many of them are doing, the trade will get going in good shape early in November, and the work will be distributed so that there will be less of a rush at any one time.

HOLD LIBERTY BONDS.

Some get-rich-quick concerns are endeavoring to persuade patriotic Liberty bond holders, whom they know will not sell outright their Liberty bonds, to turn over the Liberty bonds to these companies as security for a loan and with the money thus borrowed purchase stock in their companies.

A Liberty loan bond is the safest investment in the world, and a prudent man will very carefully investigate an effort to induce him to exchange it for a less safe investment. This lending one money on Liberty bonds as security to purchase stock in the lender's company is in many cases only a thinly disguised method of exchanging stock of doubtful value for Liberty bonds of unquestioned value.

It is a good business and it is patriotic to hold your Liberty bonds.

WILSON IS WINNING.

(Ohio State Journal.)
The vociferous critics of the president's recent note-writing would better read the terms on which Austria gets her armistice. That the president has been laboring for an early peace is true and he has done more than any other man in the world to make the prospect of it so bright and so imminent. But that he favors anything but the right kind of peace, a peace that will humble the central powers sufficiently and make them harmless for the future, is a falsehood from the pit. The terms accepted by Austria amount to complete surrender. Those to be granted Germany will be as severe and will put her out of business as a warring power for generations to come, probably forever.

Under the shrewd and skillful diplomatic leadership of the president, the allies are accomplishing the first purpose of the war months earlier than seemed possible only a short time ago. The crisis of statesmanship is the most potent factor in the virtual assurance that Germany, now bereft of all her allies, will accept her extreme humiliation at once and that hundreds of thousands of American soldiers, who have been fighting to continue will next spring or summer. The world cannot be too grateful for President Wilson's leadership in these recent trying days. America cannot be too proud of it.

OPENING OF DARDANELLES.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.)
Not until 1841 have ships of war other than Turkish been privileged to pass through the Dardanelles without the express permission of the Ottoman government. The absolute control of the straits granted to the Porte in that year by the five great powers of Europe has been for 77 years the cornerstone of Turkish power for evil. By the preliminary terms of Turkey's capitulation that is rooted out, never again to be replaced. An important corollary is that an essential impediment has been put in the way of the revival at any future time of German schemes of expansion into Asia. Here is the finishing blow to Mitteleuropa. It should hasten the surrender of the chief enemy.

Pointed Observations

"There are men in congress talking about democracy," says The Houston Post, "who wouldn't be able to tell the difference between a plebiscite and a protoplasm." This is one of the most stinging rebukes to the Republican party we've read yet.—Charleston News and Courier.

In other words, President Wilson makes it clear that Kaiser Bill has torn up his last treaty.—Detroit Free Press.

The Hohenzollern says that he will not desert his surely oppressed people. If he were to do so they would be no longer sore or oppressed.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

The German press seems inclined to take its medicine, since its faith in the All High has been so severely shaken.—Rochester Herald.

Talking of rules for Christmas presents to the fighting men in France, even up to think at the allowance per man it will take the biggest ship we have to carry the packages allowed, even if she carries nothing more.—Milwaukee News.

It begins to look like a joyful Thanksgiving.—Waco (Tex.) Times-Herald.

If the German people become the freest in the world, "as promised by the Kaiser," it will be the freest in the world, but to the armed supremacy of the allies. In the days of his extremity the Kaiser is becoming the best little prisoner of which the world has any record.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The Ohio War Board Says Today

The Ohio War Board, in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky from lake division headquarters in Cleveland.

Prune pits and olive pits are available at all season, and extra effort should be made to collect them. The nuts, walnuts and butternuts which are now falling to the ground.

Gas masks are needed badly for our soldiers, and its patriotic duty to keep right at it in collecting. Red Cross chapters in the 10 largest cities of the lake division are now serving as collection centers.

NEW YORK TURNS DOWN SOCIALIST; FORD MAY LOSE

Returns At Midnight Too Incomplete To Indicate Final Results.

UNCLE JOE CANNON IS ELECTED FOR 22D TIME

Democratic Leaders in National House and Senate Are Re-Elected.

(Associated Press Telegram.)

New York, Nov. 5.—At midnight the congressional election returns were still a little more than half in, and on the votes then hand showed a gain of eight seats in the house and three in the senate for the Republicans.

Up to that hour acting Chairman Cummings of the Democratic national committee had issued a statement cleaning Democratic gains in both houses of congress.

Chairman Hays of the Republican national committee had no issued a statement, but said he felt sure that the Republicans would control the house.

The turnovers came in New York, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Kansas, but so closely was a Democratic lead in one district neutralized by a Republican defeat in another that the net results were very close.

The Democratic leaders in congress, Senator Simmons of North Carolina, and Representative Kitchen of North Carolina, were re-elected, as were the house Republican leader, Representative Mann of Illinois, and the acting Republican leader, Representative Gillette of Massachusetts.

Former Speaker Cannon of Illinois was re-elected to what will be his 22nd term in congress, a record of service interrupted by only two defeats.

Meyer London, the only socialist in the house of representatives, was defeated by Henry Goldtugel, a Republican, but the socialists retain representation by electing Victor Berger, from Wisconsin, a former member of the house, but now under indictment on charges of violating the espionage law. Other socialist candidates were defeated, among them Morris Hillquit, candidate for mayor of New York a year ago.

The senatorial returns at midnight showed Representative Medill McCormick of Illinois, Republican, running ahead of Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, and Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer, running on the Democratic ticket in Michigan. The Truman H. Newberry, former assistant secretary of the navy, the Republican candidate.

The only complete governorship returns handed at midnight showed the Republican ticket leading in Pennsylvania and Connecticut and Governor Whitman of New York, coming downstate with a heavy plurality which promised to wipe out the advantage of the house and senate, the Democratic candidate in greater New York.

Republicans in Indiana claimed a safe lead on the state ticket.

The congressional returns at midnight were too incomplete to indicate whether the complexion of the next congress would be changed.

ANYHOW, MILLER IS OUR SENATOR

WM. E. MILLER.

WM. M. MILLER IS WINNER IN RACE FOR STATE SENATOR

Incomplete returns this morning from Delaware, Muskingum, Perry and Licking counties, comprising the joint 15th-16th senatorial district, indicate the election of William M. Miller, Republican, of Dresden, as state senator, over J. Henry Miller, Democrat, of Newark.

Senator J. H. Miller carried Newark city over his Republican opponent, 2632 to 1967. Fifty precincts out of 73 in Licking county gave J. H. Miller 4212 and W. M. Miller 3312—a majority of 900 with 23 precincts missing.

Dispatches from Zanesville and New Lexington indicate that W. M. Miller carried Muskingum by about 800 and Perry county by about the same figure. W. M. Miller also carries Delaware county, according to this morning's advices from Delaware.

William M. Miller, former newspaper publisher and former resident of Granville, is well-known in Licking county. He conducted the campaign for the county in 1914, and about eight years ago. He was Senator J. H. Miller's opponent two years ago but was defeated and J. H. Miller was made Democratic floor leader of the state senate.

WILSON ASKED TO TELL GERMANY TO SEE FOCH

(Associated Press Telegram.)

London, Nov. 5 (Via Montreal).—Premier Lloyd George, in the house of commons, said he was unable to give the house detailed information concerning the complete agreement of the allies and reached on the armistice terms to be submitted to Germany. The terms agreed upon by the allies, the premier added, have been transmitted to President Wilson with a request that he inform the German government that if they wished to know the conditions they should apply to Marshal Foch in the usual military form. Whatever Germany's reply might be, the associated powers awaited the issue

"I wish it was possible for everyone who suffers from constipation to know about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is pleasant to the taste, does not gripe, and the result is sure." (From a letter to Dr. Caldwell written by Mr. R. A. Laney, Alexandria, La.)

In Memory of Our Loved One—Mrs. F. J. Umsted.

Another beautiful life has ended—A faithful soul has flown.

A happy spirit has ascended, For God has called his own.

She is not dead, but sweetly sleeping. At rest and her suffering o'er. She's passed from earth to heaven—She's only gone "before."

She's crossed the silent river Where the years of eternity roll, Where there's rest for the faithful In that beautiful home for the soul.

While living in hope, day after day, Her health to gain, she suddenly passed away.

Husband and children, while you feel her loss, God in His mercy will help you bear the cross.

Your hearts are crushed, all hope have flown; Since she left, so lonely your home, The home-circle broken, you'll miss her every day.

And the chair made vacant since she went away.

God loved her, too, and thought it best To take her home to his dear rest. She sleeps her last sleep, is free from pain.

And waiting in Edenland to meet her loved ones again.

Father, thy chastening rod, help them Till in that Spiritland they'll meet her there.

Lee Manuel Stuthard.

Lee Manuel Stuthard, the second son of Leroy and Sarah Stuthard, was born September 15th, 1908; departed this life November 20th, 1918, aged ten years, one month and thirteen days. He leaves to mourn his loss, mother, father, sister and brother, and two grandmothers and a host of relatives and friends. His brother, Leroy Jr., preceded him to the great beyond July 20th, 1918. Lee Manuel was a kind and lovable child and won the love of all with whom he came in contact with. He was sick only one week and bore his suffering with patience. As the Lord says, "suffer little children come unto me and I will give them rest." We know the Lord's will has been done and Heaven receives its own. 11-5-11

Obedient Snake.
An Indian had tamed a blacksnake which he kept near him during the summer months. In the autumn he permitted it to crawl where it chose. He directed it, however, to return to him on a certain day in the spring. Notwithstanding the expressed doubts of a white man, he asserted that the creature would obey. Curiously induced the white man to return to the Indian on the day he appointed for the snake's return. He was amazed to see the snake come crawling back to its master. It is likely, naturalists declare, that the Indian had noted the fact that blacksnakes usually return to their old haunts at the same vernal season. Experience had taught him that the snake would probably come back on a certain day to the place where it had been fed and cared for.

GET SALT FROM SEA WATER

Old Method of Obtaining Necessary of Life Is Still Practiced in Various Places.

The use of salt for seasoning and preserving foods is so ancient that the earliest written records refer to it, says a writer in Popular Science Monthly. For many centuries practically all the salt used by the human race was procured by the evaporation of sea water.

This method of obtaining salt is still employed in many localities where the conditions are favorable. A flat stretch of sea coast and a hot and dry climate are necessary if salt is to be got from sea water. An ideal locality for this industry is the coast on the Bay of Cadiz, Spain.

The sea water is allowed to collect in shallow basins, barely above high-water mark. As the water evaporates the various salts contained in the sea water crystallize out and form a crust, which is removed and shoveled in small heaps. There the salts undergo the first stage of purification.

The edible salt is drained from the other salts, which constitute the greater part of the impurities. The edible salt crystallizes out first, while the other salts retain the water and form a concentrated brine which is allowed to run into ditches dug for that purpose.

The partly purified salt is then gathered into large heaps. Occasional rains wash out the more easily soluble impurities, and the hot sun dries the salt on the surface of the pile. Although it still contains about 15 per cent of impurities it is shipped in large quantities without further refining.

NOT WISE ABOUT OSTRICHES

Grave Difficulties Seem to Surround Scheme Devised by a Soldier Who Wants a Mascot.

The machine-gun sergeant at Douglas who wants an ostrich for a mascot and is willing to hatch it himself if somebody will provide him with an egg, does not know much about ostriches or the task in which he proposes to enlist, in the opinion of the Arizona Republican. If he gets the egg and is not otherwise restricted, he might as well be mustered out of the service. The Germans will be at peace so far as he is concerned.

He has perhaps been misled by stories he has heard of the careless, irresponsible way in which the ostrich race is perpetuated, by the laying of the egg in the sand, where it is left to its own devices until it becomes an ostrich. That may happen in Africa, where there is plenty of sand and heat, but it will not work in the climate of Douglas, where, though there is no lack of sand the sun cannot be counted upon to assist in the business of incubation. The sergeant would have to go to setting.

Moreover, the ostrich is a bird of slow growth. It would be a long time before one coming forth from the egg could become a potent influence in the struggle between autocracy and democracy. By the time it would be in readiness to be taken to Berlin the war would be over and only historians would yet be talking about it.

We would recommend some other kind of mascot, one of quicker though even of less sturdy and magnificent growth.

Taking the Philosophic View.

"I don't see you out in your auto any more," said the first north sider to his friend. Last summer you were gone all the time; no day was too hot, no road too dusty, no storm too hard, no discomfort too great to keep you at home."

"Well," mused the second, "the price of everything is getting so high that auto riding for pleasure is really a luxury and not a necessity, so that it was no trouble at all for me and my wife to find for the first time this summer that the roads are hot and dusty, that it is a whole lot of trouble to clean up the machine after a long ride, that it is much better to sit in your own rocking chair on the cool front porch at night, while the north wind fans your cheeks, etc., ad in. So now the car stays in the garage a great deal more, there is no wear on the tires and the mechanism is not subjected to such strain as it used to be, and the car will last much longer."—Indianapolis News.

TOUCHED BY SERVICE FLAG

Youngster on Brink of Disgrace Resolved to Be Worthy of Emblem Displayed in His Honor.

"Why the service flag?" is an old question, but from one of our middle West towns comes a new answer. A wealthy family in an Indiana town had a son, who had never done anything to reflect honor on his family—a family which was proud of its famous ancestry. He didn't enlist when this war broke out, and was tried to evade the draft, but was compelled to go in a recent call. He entered a training camp a few miles from his home town.

Rules and a regular life were hard for him. Smarting under a well-deserved reproof, he one night decided to desert. He slipped away from the camp and, under cover of darkness, made his way to his home in order to get his civilian clothes and better effect his escape.

Just as he was ready to scale the front veranda of his home he noticed the service flag in one of the house's great front windows. There it was—in the most conspicuous place the house afforded—a great silk flag with its one blue star.

"It's for me," the boy thought. Through his mind passed the memory of his life—a failure in winning any of the honors his family had wanted for him. No college diploma, not even a high school one, had he received—nothing except this one star in this flag had he ever let his people claim as his contribution to the family famous name.

He turned back toward the sidewalk.

"They'll get to keep that honor," he told himself. "I'll make it bigger, too," and he slipped back to camp, elated to find that his absence had not been discovered.

WHO CAN RISE TO OCCASION?

Name of Man Capable of Formulating "Umbrella Regulations" Will Live in History.

With the passing of each rainy day it becomes increasingly strange that no benefactor of the race has been prodded, goaded or spurred into preparing a "Manual of Umbrellas." People have been carrying some sort of protection against the rain ever since anybody can remember, yet the only thing they have really learned to do well is to lose umbrellas. No two persons, not even lovers, can walk under one umbrella without getting wet, and raincoats probably were first devised by a man who tried to carry an umbrella over his wife's hat. What excuse is there for the person who goes through a crowded street holding an umbrella before him in a charge-bayonet fashion? An apology does not exactly meet the requirements after the tip of an umbrella rib has been thrust into some one's eye. Folded, the umbrella is just as dangerous, when some one comes plunging along the sidewalk holding the umbrella at an angle of about 45 degrees ahead of him, tripping every one but himself. Then there is the person who tucks the handle under the arm, so that an innocent person may become speared on the sharp end which sticks out like a 60-foot telephone pole on a 15-foot truck. Furthermore, wet umbrellas never were intended as partitions between seats, even at a motion-picture theater. There is no desire to distract the best brains of the country from consideration of war problems, but some sort of umbrella regulations are needed.

Silvery Bark of the Yellow Birch.

The bark of the yellow birch can be compared with nothing else. The tree is unique among trees. The yellow birch, often better called the silvery birch, has a bark more lustrous than that of any other tree. It seems to have been made for campers to admire, or perhaps, in an emergency, to use to kindle the camp fire, says Edward F. Bigelow in Boys' Life. But do not allow the appreciation of the useful to overcome your appreciation of the beautiful. It is true that the bark may thus be used for kindling, and it is also probably true that the removal of the loose bark does not injure the tree, but such removal injures the beauty of the tree, as you then deprive it of its chief characteristic. The manner in which the bark breaks on the main trunk, expands and rolls back in ribbonlike curls and strips, which long remain attached and rustle in every passing breeze, could not fail to elicit the admiration of every lover of the forest.

It is noticeable that on old trunks the character of the bark is different, as there it is roughened by irregular platelike scales.

In Vaudeville.

Draft men coming to Camp Kearny recently for training decorated the railroad cars in which they traveled with all sorts of mottoes and inscriptions.

When they got there they were required to wash them off. However, one car got away from camp in some unexplained fashion, while these words still adorned its sides:

"This is the bunch that's going to make the knicker whistle the 'Star-Spangled Banner'."

Peculiar Cause for Divorce.

In a divorce case at London, England, the petitioner, a lance corporal in the Gordon Highlanders, said his wife, an Englishwoman, refused to be seen with him on the street because she did not like him in a kilt. When he was on leave later she greeted him with "Oh, those d— kilts!" The husband was granted a decree.

Soldier's Appreciation.

Recently a woman well known in America, who has devoted all her time to relief work since the war began, was visiting a hospital. The commanding officer had sent a military car for her. She entered the car just as an ambulance filled with wounded passed by. As she noticed the thin, pale faces, tears came into her eyes. The soldier-chauffeur asked if she was ill.

"No," she said, "these are tears of gratitude and pride."

"Madame," replied the boy, simply, "if I thought that my being a soldier was worthy of but one of your tears, I should feel that I had not lived in vain."—Red Cross Magazine.

Proper Disposal of Flags.

"Old and wornout flags should be destroyed as a whole, privately, preferably by burning. Do not cast them aside or use them in any way that might be thought disrespectful to the flag," says the adjutant general of the United States army.

CALLER FOR QUICK THINKING

Skipper of Burning Ship, With Cargo of High Explosives, in No Position to Hesitate.

The Cephalonia was deeply loaded with shells, and her chill-rooms were filled with T. N. T. for the Italian army, writes R. E. Cropley in the Atlantic. She was well in the midst of the convoy proceeding down the Thames, and had just passed beyond the submarine net, when a thin pencil of smoke was seen to rise from the corner of No. 1 hatch. It happened to catch the third officer's eye first, and he called Sammy's attention to it. In two shakes Sammy had sounded four blasts on the siren, and a flag fluttered from the yard-arm, which caused all other ships to give him a wide berth, as the propeller of the Cephalonia churned up the sea in her frantic effort to back and turn as if to return to London. A ship on fire should return to port, but Sammy, with a cargo of T. N. T. wasn't the kind of a skipper to risk blowing cottages and kiddies into the next world in an effort to save his own skin. No; he turned the Cephalonia till her stern was head to the breeze, and slowly kept her backing seaward to restrain the fire, if possible, from spreading aft to his chambers of T. N. T.; backed her away from port and other ships, so that, if she did blow up, the military loss would be confined to the Cephalonia alone. And all the while he was wondering what moment a U-boat would pop up and send a torpedo into him, or he would strike a drifting mine.

DUBLIN BOOTBLACKS IN 1780

Polish Used at That Time Was a Combination of Lamplblack and Rotten Eggs.

Among the populace of Dublin in 1780 the shoeblacks were a numerous and formidable body. The polish they used was lamplblack and eggs, for which they purchased all that were rotten in the markets. Their implements consisted of a three-legged stool, a basket containing a blunt knife, called a spudd, a painter's brush and an old wig.

A gentleman usually went out in the morning with dirty boots or shoes, sure to find a shoeblack sitting on his stool at the corner of the street. The gentleman put his foot in the lap of the shoeblack without ceremony, and the artist scraped it with his spudd, wiped it with his wig and then laid on his composition as thick as black paint with his painter's brush.

The stuff dried with a rich polish, requiring no friction, and little inferior to the elaborated modern fluids, save only the intolerable odors exhaled from eggs in a high state of putridity, and which filled any house which was entered before the composition was quite dry, and sometimes even tainted the air of fashionable drawing rooms.—University Magazine.

Playing Duckboard.

Do you know what duckboard is? It's a kind of a game first played in a primitive and mild sort of fashion by Rocky mountain goats and since modernized and made difficult by the American army. The apparatus on which one plays duckboard is a mixed breed contrivance, by Washboard or of Corduroy Road, to use the racing vernacular. It is made up of narrow, slippery strips of rounded wood laid crosswise about two inches apart, and is supposed to keep one's feet out of the mud. It does! While playing duckboard one's feet are usually in the air. It is called duckboard, I suppose, because of some silly belief that a duck could walk it without falling. Even airplanes flying at a height of less than 5,000 feet have been seen to wobble and dip drunkenly while passing above trench lines floored with duckboards. And when it is laid upon the surface of the earth and there are no handy trench walls to help out—well, it's lucky for Charley Chaplin that the wide world didn't see me operate. Nothing could ever again be funny to a man who saw me play duckboard out there in the comparative open of that wood—William Stevens McNutt, in Collier's Weekly.

Unpleasant Remarks.
Never tell anybody an unpalatable truth when it can answer no good purpose. This sort of unnecessary candor is sometimes prompted by malice, sometimes by a mere looseness of tongue. Sydney Smith says, and very justly, that friendship is frequently made an excuse for unpunishable impertinence by people who pride themselves on speaking their minds freely. The truth, maliciously spoken, may be libelous; and when volunteered in relation to matters with which the utterer has no concern, it is very often unmanly. As surely as pleasant truths kindly meant and said are passports to friendship and affection, so surely do bitter ones provoke the enmity and hatred of those to whom they are addressed. If you have a taste for sharp repartee, restrain it. It is better to lose a jest than a friend—to miss an opportunity of saying "a good thing" than to make an enemy.

Pretty Names Given Flowers.
The "Virgin Mary's Milk Drops" has a white spotted leaf and the Balsam is a "Jacob's Ladder." Many other flowers also have a spice of poetry in their names, probably because generations ago the monks healed the body as well as the mind, and being skillful herbalists, named the flowers from which they brewed their simples and cordials. The "Lady" therefore in "Lady Slipper," "Lady's Smock," and "Lady's Bedstraw" means "Our Lady," who is again signified in "Rosemary" and "Marrybuds," while "St. John's Wort," with its golden crowns, and "Crimson" with its ivory crosses, are very aptly named. But while the monks practiced piety even in their flower names, the common people believed in fairies and the like and practically imagined that certain flowers were for fairy use. So the harebell became the "Fairycup" and the Medick's tiny bouquet of wee golden blossoms descended to us as a "Fairy Cheesecake." Nor is the gentle passion forgotten, as "Love in a mist," and "Love lies bleeding," testify; while surely "Lads' Love" is as fragrant as the memory of a first love.

Liberty-Loving Aleuts.
The Aleutian Islands, which extend in a chain east and west for more than a thousand miles, are inhabited by the remnants of the Aleuts. Their war of revolution closed about the time the American Revolutionary war began. So persistent were the Aleuts in their struggle for independence that they succumbed to the Russians only after a conflict of nearly fifty years, and then chiefly because the race was well-nigh exterminated in the struggle. While the Aleutian Islands must eventually form an important link in the commerce between the United States and the Orient, other islands link our country with the great empire to the north. In the narrow Bering strait lie two little islands, one occupied by Russia, the other by the United States, so that citizens of the two great nations live on respective islands within a few miles of each other.

2000 POUNDS FRUIT PITS GATHERED HERE

The Red Cross has been busy in the county the past few weeks and the people of the city have responded generously to appeals for linen and for clothing for the people of Belgium and northern France.

Last week over 2000 pounds of fruit pits and nutshells, enough for 300 gas masks, were shipped. To the head quarters in Cleveland the following linen articles collected during October were shipped: Handkerchiefs, 197 sheets, 51 pillowcases, 21 towels, hand, 151; Turkish towels, 90; table napkins, 452; wash cloths, five.

The response to the appeal for clothing for the war-stricken people of Belgium and northern France was most generous. The receiving, packing and shipping of this amount of material was a very heavy task. A large part of it was done by the Women's Relief corps, who stood faithfully by until finished. A. B. Painter, with his manual training classes, started the work of closing up the cases. The boys were enthusiastic but as schools were dismissed it was impossible for them to continue. R. M. Davidson, who has had full charge of all shipments made by the Licking county chapter in the last nine months, then took the matter in hand, finished the work and made the shipments.

WANT VOLUNTEERS FOR MOTOR TRANSPORT CO.

The local draft board is busy finishing up the work of the questionnaires preparatory to the physical examination of the men.

Numerous bulletins were received from the war department today. One of them announced that through special order of the secretary of war, through the chief of staff the motor transport corps is authorized to induct volunteers into that branch of the service.

All class 1-A men can volunteer for the service if they are physically fit. Limited or special service men rejected on account of flat feet, broken arches, or minor defects are eligible. Men are badly needed for this department and will be sent overseas in 90 days.

Another bulletin deals with the application of civilians for commissions. The orders state that in order to aid in the procuring of officers for the army excepting medical officers, dentists, veterinarians, officer of the Railroad Transportation corps and for the Judge Advocate General's department, the chief of staff has assigned to a section of the Commission Personnel of the Operating Division of the General Staff. They will work through the agency of Military Training Camp Association and other civic organization.

Mailing Photographs.
There are no doubt many photographers who send their prints to the press and know that unless they put a piece of cardboard in the envelope it is nearly certain that the print will be crumpled or bear slight impression of the postmark before it reaches its destination. But how many know how to place the cardboard in the envelope in the proper way? The right way to do it is first to put the cardboard in, then place the photograph in so that it comes between the back of the envelope (i. e., the side where the flap is) and the cardboard. If it is put in this order it will be found that when the postmark is stamped on the envelope it will not leave any impression on the cardboard, thus saving the print.

Aerolite Mystery.
Two vagrants in England one night found shelter in a barn. In the morning, one of them was found lifeless with severe injuries about his head. His companion was arrested and told a story to the effect that the dead man had been killed by a thunderbolt. His statement was not credited, however, and he was sentenced to death for the supposed crime. Meanwhile a scientist had discovered a hole in the roof of the barn and an aerolite near the spot where the dead man had slept. This discovery established the innocence of the accused and he was released.

PLANNED TO LIFT INFLUENZA BAN

Sudden Increase of New Cases from 54 to 78 Causes Postponement.

Although the Board of Health had considered holding a meeting to lift the "flu" ban, the sudden jump in the number of new cases being reported, caused the board to reconsider. From the 54 new cases reported on Saturday, the number increased to 78 on Sunday, with a like amount of new cases for yesterday.

The board met Saturday night and adjourned to meet Tuesday to take action, however the increase of 60 per cent in twenty-four hours caused no action to be taken. It is probable a meeting may be held the latter part of the week, if the conditions are improved.

SERGT. MC CARTHY IS PATIENT IN HOSPITAL

According to word received from Supply Sergeant Clyde McCarthy, who has been returned to the hospital at Ellis Island, N. Y. from service in France, is suffering from a nervous affection.

Sergeant McCarthy is a brother of Miss Ann McCarthy of the Pharis company, and of Mrs. Frank Ewald, North Fourth street. He enlisted early in the war and was made supply sergeant with the supply company of the 58th in infantry, and has seen considerable action.

The last letter written from him while abroad stated that he was attending school. The next word was from Ellis Island on October 24. But he said nothing of his injury.

Rumor had been prevalent that he was seriously wounded in the arm, but in response to a wire from the family making inquiry the reply stated he was not injured in the arms or legs but was suffering from nervous trouble. It is thought it was due probably to shell shock or gas.

NEWARK SOLDIER DIES IN FRANCE

Charles Frederick Andrews, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Andrews of 78 East Channel street, died in service in France on October 14. This word was received yesterday by his parents in a letter written by First Lieutenant Neuweiler, who stated Private Andrews had succumbed to an attack of bronchial pneumonia.

The deceased left Newark on June 24th of this year for Camp Sherman. He had been employed at Lansing, Mich., but was transferred to a Newark quota. He is thought to have left this country about September 3 from Camp Mills, and the only word received concerning him since that time was his safe arrival here.

When employed in Newark he was with the Heisey company as an oil well driller. Surviving are the parents, and five sisters, Dorothy, Mary, Bertha, Evelyn, Charlotte and Marjorie.

Private Andrews was a member of Company G, 34th Infantry, 84th Division.

Cow Known as Great Mother.
Long before the birth of the gods the way was being prepared for the apotheosis of the cow. The life giving cowry-animal, one of primitive man's earliest deities of life, eventually became personified as the Great Mother. In course of time the cow's maternal function in supplying milk for human children brought about her identification with the Great Mother. The moon, also, as the controller of womanhood, was another of her forms.

WON'T STOP AIR RAIDS ON PLEA FOR MERCY

Washington, Nov. 5.—Action of the German military forces in the past in conducting air raids on defenseless towns in France, Belgium and England and on hospitals produce in the opinion of military and diplomatic observers here the giving of any serious attention to the protest from Berlin against military operations of the allied and American armies.

The plea for cessation of the raids on German towns, delivered to the state department yesterday through the Swiss legation, declares that since October 1 German air forces have been under orders to operate only against military objectives. In view of these instructions, disclosed through the note for the first time to the allies and the United States, the German government says it has assumed that similar orders would be issued by its opponents. Should such direction not be issued, the German government declares it reserves the right to renew its aerial attacks on allied territory behind the lines.

The long list of German bombing raids on towns outside the zone of operations and on hospitals was pointed out to today as justifying continuance by the allied and American air forces of operations against non-military objectives in Germany. That Germany's protest was made too late was the general belief in many quarters.

YANKEE, GUEST IN FRENCH HOME BURNS LIGHT TO ADMIRE BEDROOM

Swimming Pool Under Bedroom Floor and Breakfast Served in Bed Were Some of Luxuries Temporarily Enjoyed—Describes Trip to Front.

The novel, not to say, exciting experience of going into battle for the first time, fades into insignificance when compared to the life in a French chateau of the better type, judging from a diary-letter written by First Lieutenant Sheppard Smoots, nephew of A. E. Smoots of Granville. Lieutenant Smoots is a Cleveland boy, and is being a commission merchant in that city.

While his command was being transported across France from the training area to the "jumping off place," in the front line, Smoots recorded his experiences in chronological order, adding interest to the letter by touches of Yankee humor which has been the marvel of the French and British soldiers with whom Americans have fought.

As the letter was finished, Smoots' command was ready for the big drive, probably the beginning of the present American offensive north of Verdun, though Smoots' letter carefully avoids too much detail. The letter for the first time, written on train on way to front—Before I start to describe this trip to the front, will describe a trip to Rennes last Saturday and Sunday. Bill Bennett and I started to Rennes about 30 miles from the front. A week end. Upon arrival we went to the Hotel Modern for rooms. They informed us that they were filled up. Whereupon two French boys, 12 and 16 years old, after considerable conversation, managed to get us a room. Information that they had rooms in their home which they wanted us to investigate. Bill said, "Let's take a chance and see what we can get into." So we trailed along through a narrow street, through a large garden and beautiful garden. So far very good. At the door we were met by two attractive women, one apparently the mother of the two boys. They ushered us into a wonderful parlor, shooting French over our heads and sent us to a room. We drank, a French custom. We can at least always understand a drink. They seemed disappointed that we were so dumb about French, but occasionally when we could answer in our primitive French, they seemed pleased. Finally it filtered through our solid ivory brains, that they wanted to show us our rooms. And oh, those rooms, you should see them. They had no doors, but those rare furnishings are beyond my sense of appreciation. One was entirely in white panels, gold trimmed and heavily carved. Tapestries and drapes were of old rose. The bed had a canopy of old rose silk, and a spread of the same material covered entirely with lace, which any woman in America would give her last sou for. The cover was of down about a foot thick and the sheets of fine linen. The other room was practically the same except dark oak, with brown trimmings. Both rooms were fully 20 feet square with high ceilings.

"We said, 'c'est bien,' which means 'good,' and they say 'oui,' which means 'yes.' After fully twenty minutes of difficult discussion, aided by frequent references to a dictionary, we gathered the following information: The mother of the boy was a countess. Her husband had been killed August 28, 1918, the very beginning of the war. She loved the brave Americans very much. It would be a privilege and a pleasure, if the American officers would consent to be their guests during their visit, and dinner was waiting.

"Bill and I had a meeting of the board of strategy on the spot in English, and decided to see it through to the finish. During the dinner the older lady disclosed her identity, as a French girlhood friend of the countess and wife of a celebrated artist. During the evening, we conversed lightly on the war and the wonders of American and France before the war.

"I slept in the white room and Bill in the brown room. We both had the lights burning so we could admire the surroundings—if we awoke during the night.

"In the morning one of the sons came in and pointed out our baths. Wonderful to tell about. A rug rolled back and a grating removed and there was a swimming pool, in both rooms, and I might mention at this time, that both rooms are very rare in France, apparently the people do not believe in baths. The boys informed us that breakfast would be served us in bed, if we so desired. We so desired. Bill got into bed and petted de jauner, appeared.

"During the meal Bill said, 'Sheep, if our ducks could see us now.' We could both almost see them standing at the foot of the bed and hear just what they would say. Bill's father is president of the Nickelplate railroad.

"That afternoon we went for a ride in the motor car and toward evening returned to Phelan, pronounced 'Pay Long.' I showed them my company billets, and the kitchen where I gave them two loaves of white bread. They certainly delighted them. It is impossible for the civilian population to obtain white bread for more than two years.

"This morning we received orders to entrain. We left Phelan at dusk and went across the country, passing the Gare, a railroad station, to load. We arrived there at 10 p. m. Immediately started to load our 200 horses, and 33 combat wagons, Lumber type, which are of two parts each, and five other vehicles, including water carts, rolling kitchens and escort wagons. Our train consisted of 50 cars, but we could not get all our wagons on and had to leave seven behind for the next command to bring along. A French box car will hold eight horses and no more. All are the same size, 20x25 feet long. Some we could get two wagons on, some only one and a half. These same box cars which hold eight horses have a capacity of 46 to 49 French men, but we refuse to put more than 20 men in them. For the officers, there is one first-class compartment car, the seats can be pulled out an additional six inches and the arms raised, making a good sleeping place where there are not over two men in a compartment. One for each side.

"It required about four hours to load last night. We could have loaded in half that time, but were delayed by the train crew. These French have no idea of the value of time. Probably that is one reason why the war has lasted four years. At 5 this morning we were on our way. One most important feature I neglected to mention, was the work of the T. W. A. They have a hut at the station. In a cold and drizzling rain two ladies came out at 1 o'clock a. m. and personally served hot coffee to all our men. Their efforts were certainly appreciated. I was wakened up, but there was no break in the monotony until late in the afternoon, when we traveled through a much better country than any I had ever seen in France.

"Our train stopped this evening at a fairly large town, for about two hours, so we could water our horses. We have plenty of help in the army, and do this with buckets, without unloading the horses. Lieutenant Lockwood, who was attached to my company for travel, and I went to the buffet lunch at the depot to get a warm meal, as we have only cold rations on the train. A girl waited on us. Lockwood and I both started to shoot French at her, telling her what we wanted. She stood by very quietly and let us sputter for about five minutes, then she said, 'would you like some very nice hot soup in perfect English.'

"We are now at the closest point we will be to Paris on this trip. It is with in sight in daytime, but it is now past midnight and there are no lights in Paris. It is 11:30 a. m. The train stopped at a town about a half hour ago where some Grogg woke us up to serve coffee, which they do about every four to six hours. The coffee is so strong we can travel without sleep. All morning we have been travelling through a very beautiful and picturesque country. It is a wonderful improvement on the country we were billeted in.

"Our train has stopped on a bridge over the famous Maine river at Vitry on the Marne. This bridge was destroyed by the Germans four years ago. The Marne at this point is a small deep river, about 60 feet wide, in a very peaceful looking locality. We arrived at our destination at 2 a. m. and started for a billet three miles distant, where we arrived about daylight. This village has been badly shot up and is in ruins. This being close to the front, we only made it at night, and had to cover the day. Last night two other companies of my battalion arrived. I received orders from the major to reconnoiter the forest to ascertain whether or not it was accessible and if so suitable for our hiding place. The forest was in fact, a cross a stream. I found a ford, crossed into the forest, which was so dense as to be inaccessible for troops. I rode through it, followed by a sergeant. About the only clear places were French graves, and the horses started later. A branch brushed my cap off and I never did find it. Coming out I attempted to cross the stream at another place and as a result my horse lodged with him in the stirrups. I finally crawled out and with the aid of a sergeant got the horse out. I was uninjured but my orderly has been very busy all day. I reported the place as inaccessible. We worked in the morning and sleeping days. Tonight we move up to within five kilometers of the boche.

"Three or four days later, September 25th, we have now moved up to within five kilometers of the trenches, about two miles. Our trip has been so filled with interesting experiences that this book would not hold them all. Shortly after starting, rain began to fall and continued throughout the night with various stages of intensity. It was bitter cold, and nearly everyone frozen stiff. We were held up in a road blockade from 11 p. m. until 2 a. m. We could not reach our destination as day was approaching. We were forced to travel only at night. At daybreak we parked in an orchard under the trees.

"As we were finally pulling in, a boche shell screamed over our heads and hit about 100 yards beyond. We thought we were detected and shot for it, but that was the only one. It must have been in the way of a greeting. You should have seen the boys duck and dodge. Toward evening several more came over but aside from tearing large holes in the ground, they did no damage. At night we started again, ploughing through mud and rain. I will now mail this letter, but long before you receive it you will read about our big drive, which we expect to start tonight. I have just no one that looks like a novel hero, or a movie star on the eve of the battle. Everyone is ready and very anxious to see what the boche looks like. The forest in which we are located is full of men, thousands and thousands, but for some reason or other has not been shelled to any great extent. Occasionally a few come over, but always succeeded in missing our men. A few horses have been killed. This morning the boche raised our trenches under a heavy barrage. Do not know how successful they were, but I never heard so much noise. It sounded like thunder. Will close and get this mailed."

"Borrowwell—I understand Highflier failed for a million dollars. Harduppe—"Geet I'd fail for half that amount."

Among the non-essentials in a man's vocabulary are the ifs and buts.

REPUBLICANS ARE STILL HOPEFUL FOR CANDIDATES BELOW GOVERNOR

Returns Indicate Ohio Delegation to Congress Will Be Republican—Election of Governor Cox by 30,000
Majority Is Indicated by Returns

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Nov. 6.—Returns received this afternoon from 4607 out of 5756 precincts in the state, including 35 complete counties, indicate that the vote for and against state-wide prohibition is running very close. With that number of precincts reported, the vote for prohibition was 347,952, and the vote against was 353,124—a wet majority of 10,472. Approximately 1150 precincts—mostly rural and dry—were yet to be heard from.

These totals, however, included practically complete returns from nearly all of the wet strongholds in the state. The remaining precincts to be heard from are in rural communities, which heretofore have returned handsome majorities for the dries.

Both wet and dry leaders today continued to claim the election.
E. M. Fullington, chairman of the Republican state committee, at 10 o'clock this morning conceded that Governor Cox had carried the state in yesterday's election by 15,000. He stated that he hoped the balance of the Republican state ticket had been elected, but stated that he had information only on Governor Cox.

Statistics in the office of the secretary of state, the chief election officer in Ohio, declared shortly before noon today that the entire Republican state ticket, with the exception of Willis for governor, may have been elected. He stated that the vote so far received at that office would so indicate.
Belated returns from congressional districts placed the Ohio delegation Republican by more than was even indicated last night. In the sixth district, late returns pulled C. C. Kearns, Republican, through by a small majority and thereby made the Ohio delegation stand 14 Republicans and eight Democrats.
Late returns showed no perceptible change in the governor's contest. Governor Cox, Democrat, apparently having won by 30,000 over former Governor Frank B. Willis, Republican.

JUDGE WANAMAKER PROBABLY ELECTED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Nov. 6.—Early and very incomplete returns today on summary count judges indicate that Judge R. M. Wanamaker, Republican, of Akron, was re-elected to the supreme court and that Judge James Robinson, Republican, had been elected to succeed Supreme Court Judge Oscar Novins, Democrat of Portsmouth. Returns on the supreme court judgeships were slow in coming in, due to the close race on prohibition and earlier uncertainty regarding the gubernatorial election.

DRYS MAKE GAIN IN LICKING COUNTY VOTE

The complete returns from Licking county show that the dries cast 6,152 votes and the wets 4,194, giving the dries a majority of 1,958. One year ago the dries carried the county by a majority of 926. The gain this year over that of 1917 being 568.

On the referendum provision reserving to the people the power to approve or reject an action of the general assembly ratifying an proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States, the complete returns of the county show that 5,616 votes were cast in favor of the measure and 4,144 against it, the majority for the measure.

In this county being 1474, only 20 votes short of the dry majority.

The above vote truly seems a reversal of form, for the wets of course favored the referendum while the dries opposed it.

CLAIM FORD WINS HIGH SENATE RACE
(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Dayton, Nov. 6.—The commanding majority for Truman H. Newberry, Republican, candidate for United States senator, was materially reduced when more complete returns from all sections of the state were tabulated Wednesday morning, encouraged by favorable returns from strong Republican centers Henry Ford's managers were claiming his election and placed his majority at 10,000.

GOV. COX GRATEFUL TO LOYAL PEOPLE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Dayton, Nov. 6.—Governor James M. Cox at his home here today gave out the following statement, following the election of Tuesday:
"The result of the gubernatorial contest is especially gratifying when the elements that made it are analyzed. Every disloyal citizen in Ohio voted against me and I thank God for it. It is a tribute to the loyalty of those whose hearts were not tied into our great cause for world wide justice came to the polls resenting what Ohio has done for the nation and our soldiers. It is a tribute to service rendered the mere words cannot phrase. Political lines were forgotten in the state contest and voters and business men joined in a common concept of what the suffrage obligation was. While no campaign was made by me, it was apparent weeks ago that a compact was on between political leaders and those who have sought to embarrass the nation at every turn.
"That repudiation of such methods came at the hands of men of all political parties is an impressive symptom of suffrage responsibility. I wish it were possible for me to put my emotions of gratitude to the loyal people of our great state into words. The commission comes under circumstances most unusual and it will be honored and respected.
"The governor was the recipient of scores of telegrams of congratulations today at his home and newspaper office. Perhaps no one of them touched him more deeply and awakened a keener sense of appreciation than one from Camp Sherman, signed 'Buck Private' and reading: 'You are a soldier's friend. We are with you.'"

SAY G. O. P. CONTROLS NATIONAL CONGRESS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Nov. 6.—Both the New York Times and the New York World this morning conceded that the Republican party will control the next congress. The Times claims a majority of four in the senate and nineteen in the house.

KENTUCKY MAY SAVE
SENATE FOR WILSON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6.—It became apparent today that Governor A. O. Stanley, Democrat, had defeated his Republican opponent Ben L. Branner for the United States senatorship from Kentucky to succeed the late Ollie M. James, by a majority approximately 2,000 votes.

WET LEAD IS CUT TO 4000;
1000 PCTS. OUT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Nov. 6.—(3 p. m.)—

With slightly less than 1000 precincts—mostly rural and dry—yet to be heard from the wets late today were leading in the prohibition fight by only 4000 votes. Out of 5756 precincts in the state, 4768 reported votes for prohibition, totaling 365,788 and against prohibition, 369,795.

Returns from 5110 precincts gave Cox a lead of 10,040 votes over Willis.

COMPLETE VOTE
DOESN'T CHANGE
COUNTY RESULT

Complete returns from Licking county precincts compiled late Wednesday afternoon failed to show any changes in the results of Tuesday's election.
The entire Democratic county ticket, with the exception of James J. Hill and J. H. Miller, was elected. J. H. Graham, Republican candidate for state representative, defeated Mr. Hill, and W. M. Miller of Muskingum county, defeated J. H. Miller of Newark, for state senator from this district.
The county returned a dry majority, though the city total gave the wets a small majority.

Many Contests In Congressional Districts Are Very Close

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Nov. 6.—The next house of representatives will be Republican on the face at the return of noon today. The political complexion of the senate is still in doubt.

To the house, 219 Republicans apparently had been elected and 133 Democrats, with one seating, and one independent. Definite returns from thirty-one districts were missing or in doubt. The 219 districts constitute a majority of the house which has 435 seats.

The latest senate figures were so close as to make it certain that probably not until the returns were received from several doubtful states could it be known whether the Republicans or the Democrats were to control that body.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, Nov. 6.—Early today it was not apparent whether the Democrats or Republicans would control the next congress.

Party managers on both sides predicted they would have substantial working majorities but the returns showed between 50 and 75 congressional districts still unreported and doubtful.

The contest in New York between Governor Whitman and his Democratic opponent, Alfred E. Smith, was so close that it appeared the soldier vote would settle it.
Some well known figures in public life were retired or at least have close shaves by yesterday's voting. Prominent among them are Speaker Clark of the house of representatives, who last night was reported beaten by 400 votes, but today was running very close to his opponent, Senator Weeks, the junior Republican senator from Massachusetts, defeated by former Governor Walsh, Democrat; Senator Lewis of Illinois, the Democratic whip, defeated by Representative McAdams of Chicago; Senator Saulsbury of Delaware, president pro tem of the senate, defeated by former Senator Ball, Republican and Representative Sherley, Democrat, of Kentucky, chairman of the appropriations committee.

Henry Ford was running behind Truman H. Newberry, former assistant secretary of the navy, his Republican opponent for the senate in Michigan.
Joseph W. Folk, former Governor of Missouri, running for senator to succeed the late Senator Stone, was defeated by Judge Spencer, the Republican nominee.
Out of twenty senators being elected twenty eight had been accounted for early today. They were:
Alabama, Bankhead, Democrat; Arkansas, Robinson, Democrat; Delaware, East, Republican; Georgia, Hiram, Democrat; Idaho, Borah, Republican; Illinois, McCormick, Republican; Iowa, Kenyon, Republican; Kansas, Capper, Republican; Louisiana, Russell and Gay, Democrats; Maine, Fernal, Republican; Massachusetts, defeated by former Governor Walsh, Democrat; Michigan, defeated by former Senator Ball, Republican and Representative Sherley, Democrat, of Kentucky, chairman of the appropriations committee.

His son, Private Scoville, was wounded in the face with shrapnel and was taken to the Chateau-Thierry battle on July 16. He was a member of Company F, 30th infantry, having enlisted in Columbus, January 17, his 18th birthday anniversary.
Mrs. Scoville received a letter from her son, written on October 23, from a convalescent hospital in France, saying he was getting along nicely.

ASHBROOK WINS;

AT POLLS TUESDAY

William A. Ashbrook has been re-elected congressman from this seventh district defeating his Republican opponent William M. Morgan of Newark.

Mr. Ashbrook carried Licking county by 686 votes. He carried Ashland, Richland and Coshocton counties also but the figures are not available. Mr. Morgan carried Knox county by 174 votes, and Delaware county by about 400.

Shelby which gave Willis 61 majority, gave Ashbrook 41 majority. Thirteen precincts in Ashland county gave Ashbrook 977, Morgan 722.

RESERVE RIGHTS IN PEACE PARLEY

Allies Refuse to Bind Themselves When Entering Into Negotiations With Berlin Government.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Nov. 6.—Germany can have peace on the terms enunciated by President Wilson, but it must pay an enormous indemnity for the wanton destruction wrought by its forces on land, on sea and in the air.
The German government is so insistent in a note from Secretary Lansing which also announces that Marshal Foch has been authorized by the governments of the United States and the allies "to receive properly accredited representatives of the German government and to communicate to them the terms of the armistice," under which hostilities can be brought to an end.
Secretary Lansing's note quotes a "memorandum of observations" by the allied governments on the president's correspondence with the German authorities in which those governments "declare their willingness to make peace with the government of Germany."

In accord with the president's program, subject to these qualifications: "Reservation to themselves of complete freedom of action in the peace conference on the question of the freedom of the seas, and."
"The specific understanding that by restoration of invaded territories is meant that 'compensation will be made by Germany for all damage done to the civilian populations of the allies and to their property by the aggression of Germany by land, by sea and from the air.'"

Terms of the armistice may not be made public until their acceptance or rejection by Germany, but it can be stated authoritatively that they are less drastic than those imposed upon Austria.
While awaiting the approach of the German emissaries, Marshal Foch, military men believe, has opened the decisive battle of the war. His immediate object is the rout or destruction of the German armies holding a stretch of more than 200 miles of battle line in the very center of the front in France. It is from this menace that the Germans are seeking to escape in the retreat reported last night from London.

FOE RETREATS ON A 75-MILE FRONT

London, Nov. 6.—The Germans are retreating on a 75-mile front from the River Scheldt to the River Aisne.

In the face of the German retreat the situation changes so rapidly hour by hour that it is impossible to give a definite idea of the allied advance.
Roughly, the allies have crossed the Franco-Belgian frontier between Valenciennes and Fismes, which is eight miles west of the fortress of Maubeuge. Then the line runs from Mercelles to the western edge of Novour forest, two miles east of Guise, two miles south of Marle and along the Serre river to Clermont river and then in a straight line to Chateau Porcien.
Owing to the bad weather the allied pursuit has lost touch with the enemy's main body.
French troops have crossed the Ardennes canal on both sides of Le Chesne and have advanced for a distance of about a mile.

The French have crossed the Aisne on both sides of Bethel, capturing Barby, west of Bethel. North of the Argonne the French also have moved forward reaching the outskirts of La Motte and La Camille.

East of Chemery the American lines now run through Malespela, Flaba and the Bois-du-Fond-de-Limon.

LEONARD EAR OIL

Restores Hearing, Stops Head Noises

Nine out of ten cases of Deafness and Head Noises are caused by catarrhal mucus (mutter) in the Eustachian Tube, which connects the nose and the ears. Leonard Ear Oil removes the mucus, opens up the tube and the other air passages of the head, and the result is improved hearing and relief from Head Noises. It is not put in the ears, but is "Rubbed in Back of Ears" and inserted in the nostrils, and "Common Sense" directs the use of it.

Care of Hearing: which accompanies each bottle, tells you exactly how to take care of your own case. Do not be misled by substitutes or imitations. The only genuine "EAR OIL" is A. O. Leonard Ear Oil. It is the original and has been on the market since 1887, and every year it has relieved hundreds of people of their Ear Troubles. No matter how long you have been deaf, nor how deaf you are, or what caused your deafness, or how you think things you have already tried which have failed to relieve you. DOCTOR GIVES RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR

Well Known New York Physician Gives Recipe for a Home-Made Gray Hair Remedy.

A. L. Paulson, M. D., who has practiced medicine in New York City for many years, gave out the following recipe for a home-made gray hair remedy: "Gray, streaked or faded hair can be immediately turned black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you desire, by the following simple remedy that you can make at home."

"Merely get a small box of Orlex powder at any drug store. It costs very little and no extras to buy. Dissolve it in water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for mixing and use come in each box."

"You need not hesitate to use Orlex as a $100.00 gold bond comes in each box guaranteeing the user that Orlex does not contain silver, lead, zinc, sulphur, mercury, aniline, coal-tar products or their derivatives."

"It does not rub off, is not sticky or greasy, and leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."

Not Precise Enough.

"How many lumps of sugar do you take in your coffee?"

"I wish you'd express yourself accurately," commented the irritable person.

"It isn't a question of how many I take, but of how many I get."—Washington Star

THREE GENERATIONS OF WOMEN

THE ELECTION.
As these words are written Wednesday morning the re-election of Governor Cox is certain, the prohibition issue in Ohio is in doubt, the election of a Democratic legislature and a Republican congressional delegation from Ohio are regarded as assured and the election of the entire Licking County Democratic ticket, with the exception of State Representative, is beyond doubt. William A. Ashbrook has been returned to Congress by the seventeenth district. Senator J. Henry Miller went down in defeat for state senator at the hands of his Republican opponent, William M. Miller of Dresden. More complete returns are needed to disclose the political complexion of the next Congress. Doubtless dispatches in the news columns of this issue will definitely decide the several matters that are at this writing unsettled.
It will be seen from this statement that the Democracy has reason to congratulate itself and at the same time feel a tinge of regret that the victory is not more complete.
The election of a congressman, a common pleas judge, sheriff, clerk, recorder, treasurer, auditor, prosecutor, three county commissioners, a surveyor and coroner is an accomplishment of which any party might be proud, but if the later returns should show that a congressional majority politically hostile to our great President has been chosen that fact would in large measure, if not entirely neutralize the satisfaction that comes from local victory.
The county may be proud of its part in re-electing Ohio's great war governor and in repudiating the candidate who in public speeches and in correspondence favored Germany to the extent of desiring to see the sale of munitions to the allies stopped and who questioned the right of Americans to sail the seas while the Kaiser's U-boats were operating. The Advocate has never said that Mr. Willis was pro-German in his sentiments but his record clearly shows that to have followed his line of reasoning would have resulted in a Teutonic Victory long ago. One result of the election is the elimination of Mr. Willis from Ohio politics.
Several of the defeated Republican candidates have personally expressed their appreciation of the fair treatment accorded to them by this newspaper. The Advocate is proud of the fact that it conducted a fair, square fight and made no accusation, no insinuation that was not borne out by the facts. This paper does not resort to rosters or eleven hour attacks upon the opposition candidates.
The Advocate takes this occasion to offer its congratulations to all of the winners. The campaign is over but the war isn't. Let's now get down to business. Let's forget party and politics if we can, and devote our attention to the one big task, that of winning the war. The Kaiser's allies have all crumbled but Berlin still holds the fort. Americans must be united in dealing the solar plexus blow and in making the treaty of peace that seems sure to be in the immediate future.

PLANNING POT

Aunt Caline says:—Last nite I run over to Ima Cruller's which I found there a-having a vurry late supper. I had, which is Ima's husband, set there a-eating with one hand an' a-reading the Advocate with the other. He looked up an' says he, "Well, what would you think of this? It says in the paper that Bill Kiser has been a-plannin' to eat his Christmas dinner in France," he says. "Bill Kiser. Who is he?" says Ima. "He's a o-l-d-t-i-m-e German," she says. "You bet he's a German," says Had, a-grinnin'. "He's the guy what started this here war," he says. "Land sake, you don't tell me!" says Ima. "Well," she adds, some vicious, "if he gets there I wish they'd let me cook his dinner fer him!" she says. Had looks up some thoughtful an' says he, slow-like, "Well, that wouldn't be a bad idee at all," he says. "It would be slow but sure," he says, which Ima is a fearful poor cook.

CHRISTMAS TRADE.
The government not merely asks the people to limit their Christmas purchases to strictly useful goods, but to make their purchases very early this year. It considers the ordinary rush of the holiday season to be a harmful activity in time of war. It wants to keep the work of conducting stores and operating express companies and the post office, down to a normal basis during that period.
If people continue to do their Christmas buying at the usual time, it will not be possible to deliver presents through the postoffice and express companies until long after the holiday. There is not help enough to be had to do the usual Christmas work unless it is strung out over a long period.
There is just one way to start the trade and get it going now. And that is for stores to feature useful Christmas gifts in their advertising.
An indolent editor, who hated work, once told his reporters not to put in anything about politics. He thought that political excitement was largely stirred up by the newspapers. If they refrained from putting political news in the paper, he thought there would not be much political interest, and they would have less work to do. While that was very poor journalism and poor patriotism, too, the man's judgment was largely right as to where political interests comes from.
So it will be in Christmas trade. If the people are left to themselves on this matter, they will begin buying about the usual time, and there will be the usual rush and scramble. If the merchant will advertise their Christmas offerings now, as many of them are doing, the trade will get going in good shape early in November, and the work will be distributed so that there will be less of a rush at any one time.

NO TIME FOR SPECULATION.

The stock market within the past three months has seen a very considerable advance. The greatly improved military position has helped it. When the German front in France began to crumble, and Germany's allies to weaken, then the speculators began to take notice. They looked around over the stock market, and saw sound securities selling for prices below their value. They began to pick up bargains and the result of this buying movement has been the advance referred to.
Now this moderate rise has had some uses. It tends to make business men more cheerful and helps them look to the future with confidence. It probably helped put over the Liberty Loan. Some men were able to get rid of stocks without a loss and put the money into government bonds.
But it will not be in accordance with government policy for any big advance movement to be promoted now. Such a movement always depends largely on borrowed capital. If this capital is tied up in the hands of speculators who are buying for a rise, it will not be available to help put over the next Liberty Loan.

All financial operations for the next six months should be planned with respect to the way they will affect the bond issue due for next March or April. People ought not to be allowed to have funds for speculation. If they have idle money awaiting investment, let them put it out on short term authorities that can be exchanged for the next Liberty bonds.
It is likely that all conservative financiers share this feeling. People who try to speculate now on the assumption that a large and general rise is going to be promoted, are very likely to run up against the sound business sense of the country, and thus find themselves gulled once more.

HOLD LIBERTY BONDS.

Some get-rich-quick concerns are endeavoring to persuade patriotic Liberty bond holders, whom they know will not sell outright their Liberty bonds, to turn over the Liberty bonds to these companies as security for a loan and with the money thus borrowed purchase stock in their companies.
A Liberty loan bond is the safest investment in the world, and a prudent man will very carefully investigate an effort to induce him to exchange it for a less safe investment. This lending one money on Liberty bonds as security to purchase stock in the lender's company is in many cases only a thinly disguised method of exchanging stock of doubtful value for Liberty bonds of unquestioned value.
It is a good business and it is patriotism to hold your Liberty bonds.

As a lightning change artist, Kaiser Bill put on the clothes of popular government with a great celerity, but what the audience wants to know is what he is going to wear in the next act.

Some people think it is a business proposition to work when they should be in bed, and thereby give the influenza to half a dozen of their helpers.

The Germans say they must have a peace in which their honor is protected. As they have no honor left to protect, we agree to this all right.

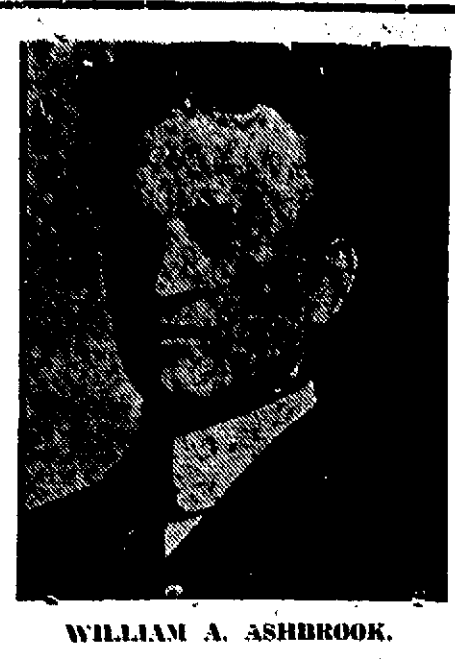

As the German army has been running faster than our troops can drag up their guns, the Huns claim it is a great victory for them.

OPENING OF DARDANELLES.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.)
Not since 1841 have ships of war other than Turkish been privileged to pass through the Dardanelles without the express permission of the Ottoman government. The absolute control of the straits granted to the Porte in that year by the five great powers of Europe has been for 77 years the cornerstone of Turkish power for evil. By the preliminary terms of Turkey's capitulation that is rooted out, never again to be replaced. An important corollary is that an essential impediment has been put in the way of the revival at any future time of German schemes of expansion Asiawards. Here is the finishing blow to Mitteleuropa. It should hasten the surrender of the chief enemy.
That the allied fleet will make use of the rights that has been conquered and proceed to the Black Sea to destroy the German war fleet there may be doubted. Since Turkey overcame her fear of them to the point of yielding to the allies, it may be assumed they hold little of menace to the allies' cause. Should it be decided best to go after them their swift destruction may be taken as a matter of course.

WILSON IS WINNING.

(Ohio State Journal.)
The vociferous critics of the president's recent note-writing would better read the terms on which Austria gets her armistice. That the president has been laboring for an early peace is true and he has done more than any other statesman in the world to make the prospect of it so bright and so imminent. But that he favors anything but the right kind of peace, a peace that will humble the central powers sufficiently and make them harmless for the future, is a falsehood from the pit. The terms accepted by Austria amount to complete surrender. Those to be granted Germany will be as severe and will put her out of business as a warring power for generations to come, probably forever.
Under the shrewd and skillful diplomatic leadership of the president, the allies are accomplishing the first purpose of the war months earlier than seemed possible only a short time ago. His great statesmanship is the most

Don't stop gathering fruit-pits and nutshells simply because the canning season is at an end.
This is the instruction going out to the Red Cross chapters in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky from lake division headquarters in Cleveland.
Prune pits and olive pits are available at all season, and extra effort should be made to collect shells of hickory nuts, walnuts and butternuts which are now falling to the ground.
Ohio is way behind in its pit-portion and people should get busy to put it up at the top.
Gas Masks are needed badly for our soldiers, and it's a patriotic duty to keep right at it in collecting Red Cross chapters in the 10 largest cities of the lake division are now serving as collection centers.

American women are installed eight miles in the rear of the fighting lines "over there." Right here at home in a woman's nursing home, you can learn a great deal by obtaining the "Medical Adviser."

A book of 1,000 pages, bound in cloth, containing chapters on First Aid, Bandaging, Anatomy, Hygiene, Sex Problems, Mother and Babe, 200 prescriptions for acute and chronic diseases; profusely illustrated by wood cuts and colored plates. Ask your druggist, or send 50c to Publisher, 603 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

If a woman is nervous or has dizzy spells, suffers from awful pains at regular or irregular intervals she should turn to a tonic made up of herbs, and without alcohol, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Then, for the liver and bowels nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Connecticut, Ohio.—After becoming a mother my health seemed to fail. I became all run-down, was weak and nervous, restless, could not sleep at night, and became so completely down and out that I was almost an invalid when I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advertised and decided to take it. The first few bottles gave me such wonderful relief that I kept up its use, and in time was restored to a strong, healthy state. "Favorite Prescription" is the finest medicine I have ever taken and I take great pleasure in giving this recommendation.

FOOD HOARDERS IN TROUBLE

Mr. B. Z. Ant and Mrs. Camel Called On for Explanation as to Proliferous Activity.

Mr. B. Z. Ant, a well-known citizen of this community, was arrested at his home last night on orders of the food administrator and charged with hoarding food. A large quantity of bread crumbs and other high-priced foodstuffs were found in the basement of Mr. Ant's home. The discovery is somewhat of a surprise as Mr. Ant has always borne an excellent reputation for industry; in fact the proverb "Go to the Ant, thou sluggard," so often used, was originally written about a direct ancestor of Mr. Ant.

Witnesses testified that they had seen Mr. Ant on many occasions carrying food to his home and it is thought he has gone so far as to enlist the aid of his friends and relatives in carrying food. Enough edibles to last all winter were found at the Ant home.

Mr. Ant is unable to give any satisfactory explanation of his offense except that some unseen force compelled him to store the food away, as he would need it later on. He denies vigorously that he intended to hold it for higher prices. His case is being considered by the food administrator.

This is the second arrest made by food officials in this neighborhood recently. Mrs. Camel having been found guilty of violating the food regulation regarding the hoarding of fat. Other arrests are likely to follow.—"Bugtown Bugle." Correspondence of the Indianapolis Star.

DEATH AS ENTRY INTO JOY

Writer Thinks Mankind Exaggerates Importance of Incident of Earthly Dissolution.

Apart from the mystery of lives cut off in their early prime, and this is the horrid catastrophe of war, it is certain that in our natural clinging to life we exaggerate the importance of the incident of death. "Will you never find an abiding peace?" said a friend to a restless poet. He replied, "All life is a wandering to find home."

Michael Fairless writes in the Road Mender: "To the large majority death is Pluto, king of the dark unknown whence no traveler returns, rather than Azrael, brother and friend, lord of the mansion of life. Strange how men shun him as he waits in the shadow, watching our straining after immortality, sending his comrade sleep to prepare us for himself. When the hour strikes he comes—very gently, very tenderly, if we will have it so—folds the tired hands together, takes the way-worn feet in his broad, strong palm; and lifting us in his wonderful arms he bears us swiftly down the valley and across the water of Remembrance. Very pleasant art thou, O Brother Death, thy love is wonderful; passing the love of women."

Local Patriotism. "The extent to which all classes of society have brought their patriotism into practice has been marvelous, was a remark made by Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, V. C., in a recent conversation.

As an instance of this he mentioned how cheaply yet efficiently a wounded soldier's hospital, within a stone's throw of his residence at Harlow, was run.

Sir Evelyn is actively interested in its management, and his daughter works there every day as a pantry maid, along with others similarly stationed in life. The cooking is done by three ex-cooks, who will not accept a penny for their services. The whole laundry work is done free of charge.—London Times.

Ancient Cameo Sold. Probably executed for that patron of the arts, the Roman emperor Hadrian, a superb cameo of the head of Medusa, wonderfully carved from a boss of translucent chalcidony, was sold at auction here, recently, bringing 1,750 guineas (about $3,750). It was a classic reminder of a classic sale, for it formed part of the incomparable Marlboroughs which realized, en bloc, 35,000 guineas in June, 1875, passing to the late David Brodell, of Battlesden Park. The collection was formed by George, third duke of Marlborough, and comprised gems which had belonged to such famous connoisseurs as Thomas Howard, earl of Arundel; William, second earl of Beaufort; and Philip Dormer, earl of Chesterfield.—London Telegraph.

Aerial Compasses. Many difficulties had to be overcome in the production of a satisfactory compass for aerial work. Chief among these was that of neutralizing the magnetism of the engine (and in particular the magneto), and of preventing the effect of centrifugal force, which caused the card or dial inside the compass to swing in a direction quite independent of north when the airplane was banking on a turn. However, a truly excellent compass is now in use.

Soldiers Learning English. It has been discovered that there are thousands of men in our National army who cannot speak or read English. For that reason the library service of the American Library association has established classes in English in nearly all of the big training camps. There is a heavy demand for books, and even "First Readers" are on the list of books asked for and—of course—supplied.

You never can tell. The people who are carried away by enthusiasm are kept within walking distance of home.

How To Avoid INFLUENZA

Nothing you can do will so effectively protect you against the influenza or Gripe epidemic as keeping your organs of digestion and elimination active and your system free from poisonous accumulations.

Doctors and health authorities everywhere are warning people of the danger of constipation, and advising, and urging everyone to see that the bowels and other eliminative organs act freely and regularly.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics, salts, oils, colonic and the like, are good enough to clean out the bowels, but do not strengthen the weakened organs; they do not build up vitality.

Why don't you begin right today to overcome constipation and get your system in such shape that you can feel reasonably sure of resisting disease. You can do so if you will just get a box of NATURE'S REMEDY (NR Tablets) take one each night for a while.

NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant, easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs, promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, strengthens your bowels and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleaning out. This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. As a constant NR Tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best. Sold and recommended by druggists.

NUXATED IRON

"To help make strong, keep red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as an organic iron—Nuxated Iron," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital. Nuxated Iron often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time. It is now being used by over three million people annually, including such men as Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, formerly Secretary of the Treasury and ex-Governor of Iowa, for example.

mer United States Senator and Vice-Presidential nominee, Charles A. Tamm, General John L. Clem (Retired), the drummer boy of Shiloh, who was wounded in the United States Army when only 12 years of age, also United States Judge G. W. Atkinson of the Court of Claims of Washington, and others. Nuxated Iron is dispensed by all good druggists everywhere.

JONES AGAIN WINS

Mayor Cook Jones declared today that he is the only man in Ohio who has been elected every two years. While Jones says he is an exception to the rule and prefers to run for a second term just for the fun of the thing, he is a larger majority than ever. He is thinking of running for a third term next spring by dividing off the water. He is now receiving applications for appointments under his administration and will give preference to women of 30 and under.

Also improved an average of a point, but based on selling pressure.

Aside from rails in which further substantial buying was noted, especially of low priced shares, the market quieted after the first half hour, with occasional upward tendencies. Steel yielded the better part of its gain and oils tobacco and some of the other speculative specialties reacted 1 to 1 points, shipments and motors losing 1 to 2. At noon prices stiffened again under lead of steel and Baldwin Locomotive. Bonds were strong as a whole. Liberty 3 1/2 per cent put to rest. Foreign issues were active and slightly higher.

FLU SITUATION MUCH BRIGHTER

Says Health Officer—Considerable Falling Off in New Cases Being Reported.

"The epidemic situation looks considerably brighter today," said Health Officer W. H. Knauss at noon today. He said that there had been a large falling off in the number of new cases reported yesterday and that so far today, the number of new cases continued to decrease. In regard to a meeting of the Board of Health to consider lifting the ban, Health Officer Knauss said it was probable a meeting would be held in the next few days. The number of deaths have rapidly decreased in the past few days and it is believed the epidemic is fast disappearing. But one death from the epidemic is reported in the city today, Jess Edwin Weiss, 28, Maple Grove avenue.

Beginning of Tobacco Using.

By 1500 the smoking habit had become common throughout Italy, and Sir Walter Raleigh made pipe smoking fashionable at the court of Queen Elizabeth. Tobacco was an important article of trade between the West Indies and Europe before the commercial cultivation of the plant was begun in Virginia, which seems to have been about 1612, or five years after the settlement of Jamestown Island. There is a great deal of uncertainty as to the facts about the beginning of the tobacco industry in the United States. It is probable that the Jamestown settlers trafficked with the Indians for tobacco and shipped it to England, or sold it to traders of other nationalities before they themselves undertook the cultivation of it.

Earnestness Welcome.

One gets very tired of chatter sometimes. And when someone comes who is thoughtful, who is earnest, who talks that he may reveal something worth while, because he has some treasure through which the world may profit, then what a difference. How the mind thrives off its steadiness and freedom under the wind that cuts, maybe, as it heals. How the soul refreshes itself, how the heart takes courage and the spirit rises to meet the message—Exchange.

THOUGHT HE WAS DIPLOMATIC

But Father of Rookie Couldn't Just See Point About His Son's "Financial Condition."

The other day a rookie, just out of college, married a girl who lived in the town where his company was in training. The young man knew he must inform his family of the event, and also that he must do it in the most soothing way possible.

"Dear dad," he wrote, "I always thought that when I married I would choose a girl who could support herself if necessary, and then if anything would ever happen to me, you wouldn't have to be burdened with her. Now, Marion is that kind of a girl. She knows all about my financial condition and—"

But when father read the letter, he paused here to reread it. "Financial condition," he snorted. "That young cub hasn't any financial condition. Why, he doesn't own the clothes on his back. Nor did he ever own them. Financial condition—well, I'll be hanged."

Another rookie had likewise married a girl who was a stranger to his mother, who boasts of Irish descent. He, too, wrote home—a letter to mother. "I have told Frances all about my family, so that now she feels that she really knows you. So I'm going to tell you all about her. She is now an orphan, but when her father was alive he was a big railroad man."

Her mother commented to the rest of the family. "Don't be excited by that," she advised them. "Your father and I used to know a very fat fireman."

REQUISITE HOURS OF SLEEP

Acknowledged Fact That Brain Workers Need Less Than Those Engaged in Manual Labor.

Periodic sleeping is undeniably an essential to the continuance of life, but sleep is required more as a means of recuperation from physical weariness than from mental activity, an exchange observes. The best thinkers are the shortest sleepers, and on the other hand the manual laborers require the longest periods of sleep. The classic example cited to prove that the thinking does not need as much sleep as the ordinary man takes is Thomas A. Edison, who during the most active years of his life is said to have slept only four hours a day. It is not so general, however, that Herbert Spencer, the philosopher, in his later life did not average more than three hours of sleep a day.

These instances should not lead to ill-advised efforts to emulate the extreme examples. One should not attempt to do better thinking by keeping longer awake, but the effort should be made to do better thinking, which will result in keeping longer awake. For if the body be not fatigued or drugged with poison, sleep comes chiefly from the slowing down of the mental processes until consciousness lapses. If an adult is not tired or full of fatigue poisons from physical labor, or if his system is not otherwise burdened with poisons from faulty diet or overeating, it is possible in many instances to cut down the sleeping period from 20 to 40 per cent of that commonly indulged in.

Prussian Guard Long Famous

The history of the Prussian Guard, cream of Germany's fighting men, which was smashed by the headlong attack of American troops at the Second Battle of the Marne, dates back to the latter part of the Seventeenth Century, when men believed in the divine rights of kings, and the troops of the guard could be depended on to protect the sacred body of their sovereign when all other supporters fell away.

The Prussian Guard was once a company of archers, known as the Trabant Guards. It was transformed into a real fighting force by Frederick William I, Drill with him was a ruling passion and he lavished much attention on his guard; scouring Europe for giants, as no man under six feet in height could enter his pet regiment. This requirement was abolished by Frederick the Great, who cared only for fighting ability. The stirring example of Napoleon's Imperial Guard caused the Prussian organization to be increased in size, and it now comprises a complete army corps. Into its ranks go the cream of each year's class of Prussian recruits.

Salvaging a Ship Sunk 100 Years.

Work has been started off Boca Ciega (Colimar) by a Cuban salvage company on the wreck of a Spanish vessel sunk more than a hundred years ago. The principal objects that the company expects to recover are forty-two cannons, which, according to divers who performed the preliminary exploration work, are still in a fine state of preservation, some mounted on the deck and the others lying close to the wreck on the floor of the sea at a moderate depth which renders their extraction only ordinarily difficult.

Brand-New Fish Story.

Deep-sea fishermen report they recently saw a floating island in the Gulf stream off Palm Beach, Fla. The island was about twenty-five feet in diameter, and the fishermen say it was composed of mud and muck, held together by tangled roots and rotted seaweed; that there were several trees and mangrove sprouts growing luxuriantly on the island. The fishermen landed on the island and found thousands of small fish on it, which sea birds were greedily eating.

The German army has evidently discovered that it is cheaper to move than to pay rent.

NO GENERAL RULE POSSIBLE

Matter of Proper Amount of Bodily Exercise Must Be Left to Discretion of Individual.

"It is an axiom that mental excellence is to a very considerable extent dependent upon a man's physical condition," declared Secretary of State Robert Lansing. "It is equally true that rules of health, except the most general, depend in large measure upon the individual and upon his peculiar needs."

"If I were asked to lay down rules which might be applied generally," continued the American premier, "I would embody them in the phrase 'More fresh air and less food.' How much bodily exercise should be taken and its character depend upon the individual, his physical condition and, to an extent, on his tastes. Of course, exercise is, as a rule, beneficial, but it ought to be a pleasure to the one taking it if he would get the best results."

"It may sound like heresy, but I sometimes wonder whether exercise, when it is not a diversion, is really worth while. Certainly the mind is not rested if it rebels against certain forms of physical training which are being taken, and recreation for the mind of one engaged in intellectual pursuits is, in my opinion, one of the most essential purposes of exercise of the muscles."

"I believe, however, as I have said, that fresh air is one of the great restoratives, and the fact that exercise is generally taken in the open is one of its chief benefits."—From "Secretary Lansing's Story of His Health and Energy," by Richard M. Wlans in Physical Culture.

KILL OFF PREDATORY BEASTS

Ridding Ranges of Ravaging Rogues Results in Saving More Than $5,000,000 Worth of Stock.

It is estimated that the bureau of biological survey of the United States department of agriculture is saving annually over $5,000,000 worth of live stock for the ranchers of the Rocky mountain section as a result of its intensive campaign against predatory animals, which has been in progress during the past three years. During this period 60,458 coyotes, 8,085 bobcats, 1829 wolves, 201 mountain lions, and 137 bears have been trapped or shot, and many other animals have been poisoned. The income from the sale of pelts of animals killed by government hunters to protect live stock during the last year will aggregate approximately $100,000. This work is of special importance, because the cattle and sheep which are already on the range producing meat, wool, and leather are afforded protection, and thus the actual sources of these essential commodities are being conserved for market. Furthermore, clearing the range of predatory animals is making conditions more favorable for stocking the grazing areas to full capacity and for improving the quality of the breeding stock.—United States Department of Agriculture.

Japanese Beetle in New Jersey.

A public hearing on the proposed quarantine of a portion of New Jersey on account of the Japanese beetle, a serious pest of certain vegetables and fruit, was held by the United States department of agriculture in Washington recently. As a result of infestation of the Japanese beetle in parts of Burlington county, N. J., the proposed quarantine is intended to prohibit the shipment from this territory of green sugar corn, ripe tomatoes and ripe peaches which might cause this pest to spread. A campaign of eradication authorized by congress is now in progress, and the proposed quarantine is deemed necessary to support the measures that are being taken for the suppression of this dangerous pest.

His Expedient.

The army examiner was getting somewhat out of patience with the dull candidate before him. But he controlled his temper, and gave him a last chance to distinguish himself. "Let it be supposed, sir," he said, ironically, "that you were a captain in command of infantry; that in your rear was an impassable abyss; that on both sides of you there rose perpendicular rocks of tremendous height; that in front of you lay the enemy, outnumbering you ten to one. What, sir, in such an emergency would you do?"

"What would I do?" responded the applicant, "I should resign!"

Studying Deep-Sea Life.

A peculiar advantage for the study of marine life is credited the biological station established at Messina about two years ago. The sudden rise of the ocean bed at the strait of Messina causes very unusual upward currents from great depths, and these are so strong as to bring many of the deep-sea animals forcibly to the surface, where they are caught from small boats. The animals are taken under conditions less abnormal than usual. Many of them are able to produce light and some even vary the color of the light at will.

Japanese to Fly in Siberia.

Yukitoku Ozaki, son of Yuki Ozaki, former minister of justice of Japan, intends to join the Semenov troops with his aircraft. He will go with Semenov, who recently brought the crown prince a pair of Russian eagles from General Semenov. Ozaki will take to Siberia another machine besides his own biplane.

NEWARK DRAGONS TO MEET GROVE CITY

The Newark Dragons have booked a football game with the last Grove City eleven for November 10. The Grove City boys have defeated a number of fast teams and are coming here to stack up against the Newark eleven at Wehrle Park.

Beliefs About Birds.

Numerous birds are mixed up with signs of death. Let a pigeon enter a house, or a robin come through the door, and some people expect calamity. Owls, again, are most ominous birds to the superstitious, especially if they hoot from the housetop. For a single magpie to cross the path of such people is enough to send them into a cold perspiration, and they hasten to lay two straws across each other to avert the evil influence. When swallows and martins build about a farmyard the farmer is troubled if they do not appear regularly year by year, for should they desert their old nests he expects misfortune. Crows are both lucky and unlucky. Everything depends on the number seen. A single crow is unlucky, whereas two mean luck.

Cause of Much Cancer.

The world is always feeling its own pulse or looking at its own tongue—forever and a day, and all day long, on the job of its health. The unceasing quest for cures for ills gives not only the legitimate profession of medicine (its means of living but opens up a wide avenue for the patent cure man, who appeals to the easy credulity or the slumbering hope of the patient. It is this latter condition that makes it so foolish and so dangerous for people to accept any plausible theory or take any "recommended" remedy, says the Memphis Commercial Appeal. It is only when physicians trained in the art of medicine speak that attention is praiseworthy.

Know Whortleberries?
 Very few people, we suspect, have tasted whortleberries, and many do not know what they are. There is an excuse for their ignorance, as experts were long in doubt whether the fruit was the same as the bilberry; but now they are agreed that they are one. The Scots call them blaeberrys on account of their color, which is a genuine blue, and so in the "Merry Wives" Pistol instructs the fairy to "planch them blue as bilberry."

AIR CHOPPED UP BY SHELL

Aviator Describes Effect of Heavy Missile Which Passed Some Hundreds of Yards From Airplane.

A British aviator who had been flying in France since the beginning of the war told the story of meeting a shell from a German 17-inch gun while he was in the air, says Popular Mechanics Magazine.

"I was at an altitude of about 6,000 feet one day and climbing higher at an easy angle, when one of those big fellows, almost at the end of its long flight, came plowing along in the opposite direction," he says.

"First a dark little blur appeared ahead at an angle of about 35 degrees above me. At first it seemed to be coming right at me and I averted to the left in an instinctive effort to dodge the threatened blow. Then a sort of droning hum became audible and that sound increased during the two or three seconds that elapsed before the big missile came up to me and swept past. It was probably several hundred yards away at its nearest, but the distance seemed less.

"A few faint stirrings of air began to rock my machine even before the shell went by, but the full force of the 'air wash' came a fraction of a second later. Then an almost solid wall of air nearly threw me on my beam ends and I was really hard put to it to get the reeling machine back on an even keel. For the next mile or two the air was like water in the wake of a big sidewheeler—all chopped to pieces—and the machine rocked like a springless lorry going over cobbles. The air was disturbed for some seconds after a loud roar astern had told me that the shell had come to earth."

CONSIDERED FLAG TO OBLIVION

Youngsters First Burned German Emblem and Then Solemnly Buried the Ashes in the Earth.

"The war is making a wonderful impression on the mind of American childhood," remarked Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones, a Bloomington (Ill.) pastor, discussing current topics with some friends the other day.

Doctor Jones relates a little story about his young son, age ten, to illustrate. In 1910 the pastor made a tour of Europe and brought home with him a flag of every nation visited. Occasionally they would be brought forth to exhibit to visitors, but for the last two years had been kept undisturbed in a box in the doctor's study. One day two months ago the little son very earnestly said to his father: "Papa, haven't you a German flag?" The pastor replied that he thought there was one in his collection, at the same time explaining to the lad that the Teutonic banner was not popular these days and was not to be exhibited.

A few days later the little son was more insistent. "Papa," he said, "I want that German flag; please get it out for me."

"I got the boy the flag," said Doctor Jones, "and through the window of my study watched what followed. First the boy called his sister, Dorothy. The children took the flag into the yard and with much ceremony burned it. When it had been reduced to ashes the children carefully gathered them and put them in a cigar box. Then they dug a little grave and buried the ashes. There is a little mound in the yard to show where the ashes of the kaiser's colors are resting. I have never mentioned the incident to the children and they do not know that I watched them."—Indianapolis News.

Popular Prince.

The bearing of the Prince of Wales all through the war has won him the admiration, respect and affection of the British peoples, here and overseas. We need not enlarge upon this, for every one knows that to say so is no courtly form of words. The prince will go to the overseas countries of the empire when the time comes with the unique advantage of having seen with his own eyes the shining qualities—revealed during the ultimate test of character—of the races that make up the empire. He will go, too, for his own instruction and enlightenment, as the king said frankly of himself last year when he foreshadowed his visit.—London Times.

Used Liquor as Bait.

The burgomaster of Arnsberg, Westphalia, Germany, having failed in all endeavors to induce the farmers of the neighborhood to bring in supplies, placed this advertisement in the local newspaper: "This municipality will buy all agricultural products for cash at government prices. Every person who delivers 100 pounds of bread grain or 300 pounds of potatoes will receive a ticket entitling him to buy a bottle of brandy or rum at reduced prices from the municipal cellars." Within twenty-four hours the cellars were empty and the residents of Arnsberg enjoyed the first square meal they had had for weeks.

When to Cut Walnut Trees.

Warning as to the proper time to cut walnut trees is sounded in a letter to the American Forestry Association from Dr. Robert T. Morris, an authority of New York city. The black walnut is destined to play a big part in the war and President Wilson has called upon the Boy Scouts to mark the trees. "From September to April is the time to cut these trees," says Doctor Morris, in his letter to the association. "If the trees are cut at other times the roots will die. It is very important to observe this rule to safeguard our future timber supply."

"The Store Where Quality and Service Counts"

SOBER MAN WINS BY BIG PLURALITY

By a plurality that grows steadily larger, the sober man is the choice of business men in the struggle for higher offices, better positions, easier hours and more pay. The man who drinks, whether he drinks to excess or just enough to slow up his brain, dim his eye or unsteady his hand is fighting a losing fight. His supporters grow fewer every day.

Modern business has no place for the drinking man. He is doomed as a "failure" and no successful man wants "failures" about him.

While the outlook is dark for the man who drinks, there is still a way whereby he can snatch victory from out the jaws of defeat. He can elect to put himself back in the running with the 5,000 Ohio and Pennsylvania men who have taken his Neal Treatment and lost all desire for drink. The action of these men has been ratified by the firms and corporations that employed them. They are chosen today for positions of responsibility and trust.

The man who wants to stop drinking, can stop. The Neal Treatment for the drink habit has proven beyond question that even the hardest drinker can stop if he wants to—easily, quickly, surely. He will be better for it—stronger, brighter, happier, more successful. Five thousand men moved from the clutches of drink in Ohio and Pennsylvania alone; 150 corporations in these two states officially and publicly endorsing the Neal Institute; 60 Neal Institutes established in principal cities of the world, giving the Neal Treatment under all conditions to all kinds of men show that the Neal Treatment does destroy the drink habit in three days. Come in and let us tell you more about it. Call, phone or write Dr. A. J. McNamara, 3329 Euclid Ave., N.E., Cleveland, Ohio. Telephone, Rosedale 3490.

Boys and Girls! Want to Lick the Kaiser?

Way to Do It Is to Enlist in Victory Boys and Girls Army Which Is Going Out to Earn Money to Swell $170,500,000 Fund to Be Raised in United War Work Drive—It's Up to You to Help Your Brother "Over There."

By THORTON W. BURGESS

THE boys and girls of America are being enrolled as the Victory Boys and Girls, to take an important part in the winning of the war. A real boy and a real girl is needed to get behind each of our fighting men, and you know our fighting men are very real indeed. Splendid work has already been done by the boys and girls of America. Splendid work is still being done. But much of this splendid effort has been so merged in the war work of older folks that there has been no nation-wide credit to the boys and girls for what they have done, because there has been no nation-wide joint effort by them.

Now comes both a challenge and an opportunity—a challenge for you to show just what kind of red-blooded, patriotic fighters you are; an opportunity to have a direct and personal part in the war with full credit therefor.

Fighters Well Cared For

Most of you know that Uncle Sam supplies his fighting men with every physical necessity. They are the best fed and best clothed fighters in the world, and they are supplied with the best fighting material. The Government has done for them all that it can do. It has made them physically fit and supplied them with the materials of war.

But you boys know that merely being physically fit is not sufficient to win in an athletic contest. You know what it means to your baseball team, your football team, your track team, to have the whole school rooting for them. You know that without the enthusiastic, whole-hearted backing of their school, no team can do its best. It is from the rest of you that your athletes draw the enthusiasm, the will to win. It is because of the faith you have in them.

In a boxing match each contestant has in his corner several helpers or handlers—seconds. These are the men who revive him between rounds, advise and encourage and fill him with faith in himself because of their faith in him. Many a great match has been won as much by the seconds as by the victorious boxer himself.

Question of Morale

It is just so with our fighting men. That they may fight their best they need more than good food and good equipment. Their spirits must be kept high. They must be kept free from worries. They must not be allowed to become lonesome or discouraged or homesick. They must not be allowed for one instant to think that the folks at home are not with them, heart and soul. They must be made to feel fit mentally as well as physically. This is called keeping up a high morale. A low morale almost certainly means defeat.

There is no way of keeping at its highest the morale of our fighting men on land and sea equal to making each one personally feel that his welfare is the thought uppermost with the folks at home. This is being done through seven great organizations, the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Jewish Welfare Board, the War Camp Community Service, the American Library Association, and the Salvation Army.

All of these organizations are at work in every cantonment, in every camp in this country and on the battlefields of Europe. Wherever American soldiers and sailors are you will find representatives of one or all of these organizations providing for our soldiers' recreation, reading matter, opportunities for writing home, opportunities for obtaining the little luxuries which the Government cannot provide.

Represent the Home
 Always the secretaries and workers of these organizations are extending the hand of fellowship and passing the word of cheer which folks at home would so gladly do were they able. In the hearts of the fighting men these representatives stand for the folks at home.

These seven organizations are supported entirely by contributions from home folks. In the past each one has conducted its own campaign to raise these funds. Now the seven have combined to raise $170,500,000 between November 11 and 13, to carry on this work for another year if the war shall last that long.

President Wilson has asked the people of this nation to contribute this great sum because he understands how necessary the work is to insure victory. It is in connection with this campaign that the splendid privilege of having a direct part in this war is offered to all boys between the ages of 12 and 18 and to all girls of like ages.

Backing Up Your Man
 The plan is very simple. You are not compelled to participate. You are asked to volunteer to earn and give a certain amount of money for the United War Work drive in splendidly keeping up the morale of our fighting men. The Victory Boys are asked to pledge themselves to earn and to give between now and March 1, five dollars or more each. The Victory Girls are asked to do a similar thing. Bear in mind that each dollar will provide a soldier with recreation, amusements, opportunity for social enjoyment and study, and for religious activities for one week. Every boy who gives $5 will be personally backing and keeping up that most immediate of all needs—the morale of a fighting man for five full weeks.

It is necessary that this money be earned. Money not earned is not a contribution from you, but from the one who gave you that money. No soldier or sailor is giving his services by proxy. It is absolutely personal with every one of them. It must be. Therefore you are asked to earn the money that you contribute to this cause. Thus you will have a personal part.

Do not think that because you are here in America and the battle line is 3,000 miles away that what you may do is of little account and is not personal participation. The war is being fought in America. General Pershing and his men, Admiral Stims and his men, are under orders and direction of the War and Navy Departments at Washington. The men on the fighting line are absolutely and wholly dependent on the lines of communication, and the lines of communication start in America.

Need Your Backing
 The five dollars or more which you may earn and contribute will go directly to the service of a fighting man. You are not yourself old enough to be a fighting man, but you can back a fighting man, and that fighting man needs your backing. If you earn and give five dollars you have provided for the welfare of a fighter for five weeks, and for that length of time you will be his second. He will be your personal representative.

This is the finest opportunity since America entered the war for the boys and girls to show the men who have gone across the kind of boys and girls they are fighting for. When this campaign closes, word will be sent to all the fighting forces telling them the result, and they will know just how many boys and girls here at home have been enrolled in the two great armies of the Victory Boys and the Victory Girls.

There are countless ways in which money is to be earned, especially in these days when everywhere is heard the cry for help. The money is to be paid in three installments. One on December 3, one on January 15, and one on March 1.

All that is asked of you now is that if you are willing to volunteer, if you want to join the Victory Boys and the Victory Girls, you will sign the pledge card. It is wholly a matter between you and your own desires. The fighters want you behind them. Are you game?

Looking Into the Future
 In years to come you will look back to this war and realize as you cannot realize now that you have lived through the greatest event in the history of civilization. If you have not personally participated in it, it will be a source of regret all the rest of your life. If you have personally participated in it, it will be a matter of personal pride all the rest of your life.

Here is one of the best. If not the best opportunity which the boys and girls of America have had offered them for direct participation. It is up to you. You are proud of our men over there. Are you going to make them proud of their boys and girls over here? Of course, you are.

WASTE OF SUGAR
THE following bulletin was among the most forceful and effective bits of conservation propaganda at the New York Food Show last month. It was put out by the National Sugar Refining Company of New Jersey:
"Save the waste!
"One hundred million cups coffee used daily in United States.
"Seventy million cups tea used daily in United States.
"One hundred and seventy million cups tea and coffee.
"If even an average of half a teaspoonful of sugar per cup is left undissolved at the bottom of cups of tea and coffee the waste would be 1,700,000 pounds of sugar daily.
"Stir your sugar until it dissolves. It's estimated that one-third to one-half of all sugars used in homes is used in tea and coffee. Think it over—how is it in your home? Isn't there a chance for saving?"
From New York Times Sunday, September 29, 1918.

SOLDIERS PRIZE SERVICE MEDALS

Warren M. Harris, Sergeant Company L, Third Battalion Edgewood Arsenal, Edgewood, Md., in acknowledging receipt of the Advocate service medal says:

"Allow me to congratulate the enterprising publishers of The Advocate upon their plan of reaching the boys who have gone off from Licking county to bear the standard of Democracy in the name of their noble county's loyalty and vision of service and sacrifice. The men who have left that county will feel a great sense of relief and a greater sensation of pride as I did when they receive the splendid token you have so thoughtfully prepared. There are no thoughts and no feelings more common and more inspiring than the fine ones of home and friends. And when we are so beautifully remembered and so highly considered by those whom we left at home and the ones whom we expect to see when this war is over we certainly are inspired to even greater service and more willing sacrifice."

"Please accept my gratitude for the thoughts and prayers which the medal constantly remind me of and accept too my warm appreciation. Best wishes to all and the kindest regards to those whose hearts are so loyally with us."

Warren M. Harris.

Mr. George Knecht, manager of the Avery Loeb Company, who enters the service of the navy as chief electrician recently writes:

"I have received your medal and it is my desire at this time to thank you very much for same. I have only been in Newark 10 months but these 10 months have been very pleasing and I assure you that the people of Licking county certainly send their boys off in a grand way. Trust that I may have the good fortune of coming in contact with something in this war that will make the people of this community proud of having me as a resident. Thank you again very kindly."

BETTER THAN CALOMEL
Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Many headaches, "biliousness" and that lousy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" closed bowels and how they "put up" the spirits. 60c and 25c a box. All druggists.
